CHAMP SUMMERS, a former Madison resident and now a highly successful star with the Detroit Tigers baseball club, will be the guest speaker at this year's Tree of Lights campaign kickoff luncheon at noon Tuesday, Nov. 25, in the Salvation Army Corps Community Center, 3007 E. 23rd St. This year's goal for the campaign is $32,000, according to campaign chairman Robert H. County budget $35 million

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record
The County Board will be asked in its Nov. 26 meeting to approve a new budget of $35,220,325 which was completed by county finance officials and posted for public inspection Monday. The new budget is $3,353,447 more than the budget approved last year for the county fiscal year which ends Nov. 30, of $31,866,143.

The higher total of the new budget is not expected to result in a substantial increase in the county tax rate, now 63.4 cents per $100 valuation, according to the office of Nelson Hagnauer, board chairman. The budget completed this week is for Dec. 1 through Nov. 30, 1980-81. The total includes $11,968,046 in the general fund. This figure includes federal revenue sharing accounts of $1,062,140 which are up from $928,742 last year. Also included in the new budget is $8,967,845 for the county's special accounts and $14,284,434 for special services.

It does not include a total of $572,510 in accounts of the special sewer district which provides for bond payments that fall due during the year.

This account is budgeted separately. The County Board meeting customarily held on the third Wednesday of each month was delayed to the Nov. 26 date to permit completion and posting of the budget for that time. Hagnauer's office reported that the budget possibly could mean the change of the present tax rate within one cent but should result in no substantial change one way or another.

Ruling on motions in Green case due

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record
New post-trial motions in the $9.2 million verdict for former residential developer Jim Green against the Alton Telegraph Printing Co. and two of its former reporters were heard by Circuit Judge Charles Chapman in Granite City Tuesday and Judge Chapman took the motions under advisement.

The Telegraph's attorneys are seeking either a new trial, a modification of the verdict or a reversal of the jury's findings. Judge Chapman said he will rule on the motions before Dec. 1, the date his current appointment as a circuit judge expires.

Green charged that Telegraph reporters Joe Melosi and William Lhotka sent a memo to the U.S. Justice Department in 1980 which alleged that Green had syndicated connections and that Mafia money was being funneled through the former Piasa First Federal Savings & Loan Association to Green and a selected few developers and builders.

The Justice Department transmitted the allegations to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which conducted an audit of Piasa and made recommendations which ultimately led to Piasa discontinuing credit to Green, according to trial testimony.

Unable to complete several of his multi-million dollar construction projects, Green's empire collapsed and Piasa ended up foreclosing on the properties, including much of Gaslight Walk apartments in Ponton Beach, Green's attorneys contended.

The jury awarded Green $6.7 million in compensatory damages and $2.5 million in punitive damages, believed to be the largest libel judgment, to date. Judge Chapman had given the Telegraph until Oct. 31 to post a bond in the amount of the judgment, but had to extend that date, since the 5,000-page transcript of the trial had not been completed.

The document was completed last week and Judge Chapman spent last weekend reading it, in preparation for a hearing on the Telegraph's post-trial motions.

A packet of post-trial motions, approximately 135 pages long, were submitted to Judge Chapman prior to the hearing on the motions Tuesday. The motions list nine specific reasons why the judgment of the jury should be vacated.

First was that the proof of damages to Green's corporation offered during the trial was not substantiated and was improper. The statute of limitations on corporate loss are only two years and the limitations exceeded that statute, it is contended.

It also is contended that a verdict contending that the statute of limitations on libel began when Green first learned of the memo was in error, since the statute of limitations on corporations is only two years.

There also is a requirement that the interests of both sides be balanced, in relation to time. Since the event for which the Telegraph was sued occurred in 1969, the Telegraph's ability to call witnesses and collect evidence to defend itself was hampered by the passing of the 11 years since the incident, according to the motions.

The fourth point is that newsmen have privilege, under the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, in their news gathering efforts and there is an absolute privilege against anyone being sued for reporting suspected crimes to law enforcement authorities, Telegraph attorneys contend. Therefore, they say, the judgment is improper.

A fifth motion points out that the two reporters had no probable cause to believe their memo to the Justice Department would cause Green's collapse. Since some laws require proof, showing that their intent was to destroy

Bright potential for a Rock Road industrial park

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
A 172-acre industrial site on Rock Road in the Tri-City Regional Port area is "first class" in every way and is likely to be developed quickly, the local prayer breakfast group was told Wednesday.

In addition to meeting all criteria for water-related plant development, the tract here benefits from excellent port management and a progressive state legislature and governor, the Rotary-sponsored gathering was told at Charlie's Restaurant.

Speakers were John H. McCarthy, assistant manager, Planning Department, Sverdrup and Parcel, and Associates, and Alfred H. Kerth III, community affairs officer, First National Bank of St. Louis.

Lone delinquent cited was the tendency of governmental bodies in this metropolitan area to "toot their own horn" but to say little to industrial prospects about other portions of the region, the speakers said.

They added that the St. Louis bank, the Bi-State Development Agency, the Regional Commerce and Growth Association and others are endeavoring to promote all parts of the two-state area. An example cited was the bank's selection of five primary port-industry development sites; three are in Illinois, including the Tri-City Port industrial park.

Kerth said the financial institution is willing to buy revenue bonds, lend to private developers or invest directly in such projects to help make them a reality.

The Sverdrup firm was hired to pinpoint likely locations and probable corporate candidates, and McCarthy outlined its recommendations—five, immediate development sites, five intermediate proposals and two long-range projects.

Both speakers described in glowing terms the performance of the Tri-City Port and the attitude of such legislators as State Senator Sam Vadalabene and State Representative Sam Wolf.

Sen. Vadalabene, who was in the audience, praised the role of Governor James R. Thompson in local progress.

Carla A. Randt, Tri-City Port general manager, said the district has been working for years and has succeeded in packaging industrial sites economical to develop, in contrast to tracts that still require access improvements or utility installations.

Wednesday's program, moderated by Carl E. Mathias of Granite City, a Bi-State board member, began with Kerth's assertion that port area land offers the brightest economic development potential in the metropolitan area.

He said both private sector and governmental leadership is needed, but that his bank is willing to serve as a catalyst as well as a direct participant in various ventures; it is willing for others to shoulder phases of the task, as long as positive action occurs.

The bank sponsored a port development forum in May and has contacted 150 firms identified as possible users of area sites that link barge, rail and truck transportation. The forum dealt with fleetings, water-

Work started on $175,000 'mini-bank'

A new drive-through and "mini-bank" facility for Granite City Steel Employees' Federal Credit Union is under construction at 20th Street and Lee Avenue, several blocks from the main office at 1517 Twentieth St.

A building permit has been obtained for a new $175,000 building, including a four-lane drive-through facility two walk-in stations for customers, according to Jerry Pakovich, office manager for the credit union.

Both the existing credit union and the new building will remain operational, he said. Construction footings for the new building are in and the credit union anticipates the modular building will be complete about the first of the year.

"This is a new idea for us. An increase in cash transactions in the current building demanded that we expand our facilities. Some renovation will be done in the main building after the new facility is completed.

"We are somewhat hemmed in here. This will give us more customer parking and added convenience for the customers," Pakovich added.

He said he is hoping the new facility will increase use of the credit union by employees of Granite City Steel. The credit union topped the $20 million mark in assets for the first time last year and now is involved in a full share drafts program, he added.

MEANS CO. BUILDING
Also granted a building permit by the city is a previously-announced $200,000 industrial building to be constructed by F.W. Means & Co. in the proposed Donald Partney Sr. Industrial Park, Route 3 and Rock Road.

The building is to house laundry drop off and pick up terminals, but there will be no cleaning done on the premises, the Granite City Council was informed last month.

The permit for the building was granted to 3-D Incorporated (David, Dan and Don Partney Jr.), developers of the new industrial park. It is the first commercial building to locate in the 11-acre park for light industry.

REPLACE SMILIN' JOE'S
A foundation already is being laid at Nameoki Road and St. Clair Avenue for a new barbecue stand at the former location of Smilin' Joe's Liquors. The old Smilin' Joe's building has been demolished and Clay Windfield Construction is to erect the new building for Charlie's Restaurant.

Charlie Hester, owner of the restaurant, obtained the building permit for the barbecue stand. The proper address is 3102 Nameoki Road. He also obtained the required permit to raze the Smilin' Joe's building.

South kickers to play in State Finals Friday

The Granite City South soccer team is on its way. The Warriors, with a record of 23-2-1, set out this morning at 8:30 for the Chicago area where they'll wait until tomorrow at noon when they'll face Wheaton Christian in the first quarterfinal game of the Illinois High School Association Soccer Finals at Palatine Fremd High School.

The Granite South kickers, along with head coach Gene Baker, assistant coach Mel Bunting and managers Nathan Kessler and Dan McGowan, were given a rousing send-off this morning, including a pep rally and a performance by the South band.

Along the way, the Warriors will stop for a brief workout at Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University in Normal-Bloomington.

Should South win Friday, it will play the winner of the Chicago Bowen-Gordon Tech game in the semifinals Saturday morning at 9.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE is said by those attending the Veterans' Day observance Tuesday morning on the front steps of the city hall downtown. The program was sponsored by Amvets Post 51 with other veteran organizations participating. Represented at the observance were members of U.S. Submarine Veterans of World War II, American Legion Post 113 and auxiliary, Quad-City Navy Mothers Chapter 850, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300 and the Amvets auxiliary. Each of these groups placed a wreath near a memorial plaque on the city hall lawn. Various groups representing the Boy and Girl Scouts of America also participated in the program.

Police regulations passed by council

A manual of rules and regulations for the police department was approved Tuesday evening by the Madison city council.

The manual was prepared by Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick and reviewed by City Attorney Casper Nighossian.

The Board of Police Commissioners and council members were given copies of the manual prior to the Tuesday meeting to study and make recommendations.

Major topics covered are: command and supervisory responsibilities and authority, professional conduct and responsibilities, general conduct on duty, investigations, arrest and detentions.

Public activities, judicial and investigative actions, departmental discipline and morale.

Other topics covered include a section on loyalty, wearing of the uniform, civilian clothing, reports and appeals, criticism of orders, plus incurring and payment of personal debts.

There are over 123 specific areas covered in the comprehensive manual.

The council awarded a contract to the Dave Croft Chrysler-Dodge, of Collinsville, who submitted a low bid of $14,239 for two Madison police cars.

An ordinance was passed on criminal destruction of any real or personal property of the City of Madison.

"We have had some problems with vandals burning or stealing the new trash collectors we're trying out. I want to serve notice on them (vandals) that if caught we will prosecute to the maximum and they could cost them $500," Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk told the council.

A demolition contract was granted Madison County Community Development to demolish a structure at 804 Webster St.

A single bid on a street sealing machine was referred to the purchasing committee and superintendent of streets for a recommendation.

A Georgia firm, Neal Manufacturing Co., the only bid, was for $8,330, with a two to four week delivery time required.

BURGLAR HITS VANS

A quantity of tools and other items were stolen from three vans parked at Guarantee Electric Co., 1510 Grand Ave., where a burglar cut a chain on the fence gate to gain access to the lot. It was reported Monday, an inventory was being taken. Immediately determined as stolen were electrical tools with a tool box and pouch, valued at $300, and a battery, $50.

Allege 2 men have cannabis

While patrolling in an alley at the rear of Calvary Baptist Church, 3000 Washington Ave., at 10:35 p.m. Monday, an officer checked on two men seated in a parked car on the church lot and alleged a strong odor of cannabis was evident in the interior of the vehicle.

It was alleged 10 cannabis cigarettes in the plastic bag were found beneath the front passenger seat and certain items were under the driver's seat.

Taken into custody were Steven D. Grady, 19, of 3025 Warren Ave., and Eric L. Keilh, 17, of 32701 Washington Ave.

Both men were charged with unlawful possession of cannabis and were released on cash bonds of $102 at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

File counter complaints

Thomas R. Mitcherson, 22, of 2055 Cleveland Blvd., was arrested at 9:40 p.m. Monday and charged with battery following an altercation in the hallway of the apartment building with a 16-year-old youth.

The youth reportedly was arguing with Cindy Tyler, 2055 Cleveland Blvd., and called the woman names. It appeared he was going to strike her with his fist, when Mitcherson, a friend of Miss Tyler's, intervened and allegedly grabbed the youth by the neck.

After officers arrived at the scene, the youth again became abusive toward Miss Tyler and her friend, it was alleged, and both Mitcherson and the youth were taken into custody.

The youth was charged with assault on a counter complaint signed by Miss Tyler. Both were released a short time later on notice to appear.

Wheels, tires gone from semi

Two wheels and tires, valued at $430, were stolen from a semi-trailer truck parked at Oliver Trucking, Edwardsville Road and Charles Street, it was reported at 3:50 p.m. Monday.

Wayne Miller told police the wheels were secured by a chain and two padlocks on a steel frame beneath the trailer. The chain had been cut and the locks also were taken, he said.

Tests to identify aptitude

An annual national search for identifying engineering aptitude in pre-college students is conducted by JETS, Inc., a non-profit educational organization. Known as the National Engineering Aptitude Search (NEAS), the program features a series of tests that may be taken by high school students in grades 9-12 inclusive.

The NEAS test series measures ability in four areas: verbal, numerical, science, and mechanical comprehension. Test results are intended only to help in the prediction of probable future success in engineering studies; they do not attempt to predict whether a student is likely to become a successful practicing engineer.

Students who take the tests will receive personal reports of their results accompanied by an explanation that enables the student to plot his or her own profile. Applications are available in area high school Guidance Departments. The test will be held at the Engineers' Club, 459 Lindell Boulevard, St. Louis, Saturday, Feb. 21, 1981, at 9 a.m. to approximately 3 p.m.

Keys missing, ransom house

Carol Ann Overton, 4509 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported at 9 a.m. Tuesday that her purse, containing a wallet, makeup, personal papers and the keys to the apartment of a neighbor, was stolen from her home between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Monday.

At the same time, Cynthia Sergeson, 1104 Kirkpatrick Homes, whose keys were in Mrs. Overton's purse, reported finding her apartment had been ransacked when she arrived home last night and the keys were on top of the television.

It did not appear anything was missing from the Sergeson home.

20 speed limit for Clark is proposed

Whether to establish a 20 miles per hour speed zone on Clark Avenue between Maryville Road and Johnson Road is under study and will be considered at a future City Council meeting.

The plan advanced by Seventh Ward Alderman Michael Modrusic is described as an alternative to the installation of a series of stop signs.

With the completion of Maryville Road, use of Clark Avenue by motorists has increased and there is concern for the safety of children playing near the street, Modrusic told fellow aldermen last week.

The proposal was referred to council committees and the city engineer for a recommendation.

Referral carried on a 10-1 vote after First Ward Alderman Charles Douglas first asked where Clark Avenue is located and then objected because the council had not received advance word of the proposal. Aldermen Lloyd Bailey and Margaret Nann were absent. Modrusic said he had asked City Attorney John Papa to prepare an ordinance on the speed limit. Alderman Everett Morley of the First Ward initially opposed the proposed speed limit in the belief that it involved speed bumps. He withdrew his protest when assured that no bumps are planned.

Third Ward Alderman Roy Poulos asked that, in accord with aldermanic courtesy, such proposals be submitted to the Traffic Committee before being introduced on the council floor.

Alderman Douglas criticized verbal presentation of ordinances as written by the city attorney without council members having had a chance to suggest revisions, but Second Ward Alderman

Sam Whitmer voiced direct opposition to the rationale outlined by Douglas.

Whitmer stressed that aldermen want to hear a proposal in the exact form that appears suitable to the attorney, after which they can suggest changes or express support or opposition during a council meeting. Otherwise, the council would be unsure of who has had input, and what that input was, on specific proposals that come up for a vote, he added.

Plans for new Boy Scout troop

Parents and boys residing in Eagle Park, who are interested in the formation of a new Boy Scout troop, are invited to attend an organizational meeting at 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 15.

The public meeting will take place at the Eagle Park Improvement Association Hall, 100 Hill St.

The new troop for boys 11 through 15 years will be sponsored by the Eagle Park Action Committee, according to Ed Salmond, president.

Those helping to organize the scouting group are Richard Spillars and Leroy Jones. All youth and adults interested in scouting are invited to attend, Salmond said.

KATHY ORSBURN of Madison, Brenda Cole of Edwardsville and Carol O'Brien of Collinsville are among the Operating Room Nurses at St. Elizabeth Medical Center (Granite City) who are to be recognized Friday, Nov. 14, "Operating Room Nurse Day." OR Nurse Day is sponsored by the Association of Operating Room Nurses, Inc. to recognize the commitment of the OR Nurses to personalized attention geared to the patient's special needs before, during and after a surgical procedure.

Prisoners not transferred faster, freeing deputies

A program aimed at leaving Madison County sheriff's deputies free to patrol during the night hours, rather than spending much of their time picking up prisoners at various city jails for transfer to the Madison County Jail, was implemented Monday.

Under the new program, a deputy and a transportation aide in a specially-designed van are "making the rounds" of city jails during the daytime, picking up prisoners, according to Major Fred Bright, administrative assistant to Sheriff Emil Toffant.

Formerly, when a deputy on patrol in the Mitchell area, for example, was notified at 2:30 a.m. that there was a prisoner in the Granite City Jail awaiting transfer to the county jail, that deputy had to stop patrolling, drive to the Granite City Police Building, fill out the necessary transfer forms, drive the prisoner to the county jail at Edwardsville, wait there until the prisoner was processed and then the deputy could drive back to Mitchell to continue his patrolling.

The new system also should help smaller cities and villages, which find it difficult to hold prisoners overnight and then to drive them to court appearances and return them to jail until the sheriff's department can pick up the prisoners.

More prisoners now should be making their court appearances in Edwardsville after spending the night in the county jail, Bright added.

A meeting is to be held with city chiefs of police in the near future on the proposed new forms and standardized transfer procedures, but all of the chiefs are "very receptive" to the new system, he added.

Although there are some costs involved in the new program, the sheriff's department will not be asking the Madison County Board for additional funds for the new transfer program, Bright said, noting he feels there are sufficient funds available in the current Sheriff's Department budget.

Increased efficiency and shorter processing time for the prisoners should offset most of the costs involved, he added.

The new system also should help smaller cities and villages, which find it difficult to hold prisoners overnight and then to drive them to court appearances and return them to jail until the sheriff's department can pick up the prisoners.

Glenn Tonsor involved in Friday's magic show

Although he won't be visible on the screen, Granite Cityan Glenn Tonsor will have a major role in the "Siegfried and Roy, Superstars of Magic" show, to be televised at 7 p.m. Friday on KSDK-TV Channel 5.

Tonsor, a 1979 graduate of Granite City High School North, is technical director and lighting designer for the NBC spectacular, which was taped in Las Vegas.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tonsor Sr., 2109 Woodlawn Ave., Glenn is expected home next week for a short stay prior to accepting a new assignment.

The show was developed by Siegfried and Roy, a widely known magical act, which has won acclaim in performances on a regular basis in Las Vegas and in previous televised appearances.

The masters of illusion will be joined on the show by Lorne Greene, Cyndy Garvey of "Games People Play," Jayne Kennedy, wild animals and dancing girls.

Tonsor began performing magical tricks himself when he was in the second grade and became a familiar figure at PTA and Cub Scout events, among other appearances in the metropolitan St. Louis area.

Later, he became interested in electronics and worked with recording and sound systems.

Before moving to California, Glenn was involved with productions at the Plantation and Barn Dinner theaters and went on to become technical director at the Goodtimes Dinner Theater at the Ramada Inn in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

He has been residing in Las Vegas since joining the Siegfried and Roy technical staff as a director in July.

Admitted after beating by two

Michael Joseph Steff, 28, of 1901a State St., was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 10:25 p.m. Tuesday and admitted for treatment of deep cuts, bruises and scratches to the right side of his head.

Police were called to a building at 19th and State streets by a couple who found Steff sitting on the ground near stairs leading to second floor apartments.

Steff told officers he had been beaten by two men, but was unable to describe his assailants.

Mosele, DeLaurenti seeks reappointments

"I feel that my defeat was based upon distortion and lies and not on voter dissatisfaction with my record," Circuit Judge Victor Mosele said in announcing this week that he will apply to the Illinois Supreme Court for reappointment to the seat he lost in balloting Nov. 4.

Mosele and Circuit Judge John DeLaurenti of Bond County failed to garner the required 60 percent yes votes on the ballots for their retention to the circuit judgeships in the Third Judicial Circuit (Madison and Bond Counties). Both plan to apply for reappointment by the Supreme Court to circuit benches.

Mosele is being even more specific. He says he plans to apply only for his vacancy, and not for just any of the four judge posts which will be vacant Dec. 1.

He blamed the Committee for an Improved Judiciary, a group of lawyers which campaigned actively against retaining the two judges, for their failure to achieve retention.

In a newspaper, radio and mail campaign, estimated to cost more than $20,000, the committee charged that the judges were soft on crime and used several sentencing examples, most from 1973, to show that Mosele was "soft on crime."

Later, Michael Manning of Edwardsville, a political consultant for the committee, said at a news conference that the information being distributed was "distorted" and he was sorry for taking part in the activities to remove the judges.

Mosele showed where, in the cases the committee cited, he granted the probations and lenient sentences on the recommendations of the state's attorney's office after plea bargaining.

"It just surprised me that they would attack my criminal sentencing record. I am known in this county for being hard on criminals. Of all the thousands of criminal cases and thousands of civil cases I have heard, it is a distortion to use these few cases as representing my record," Mosele told the Press-Record.

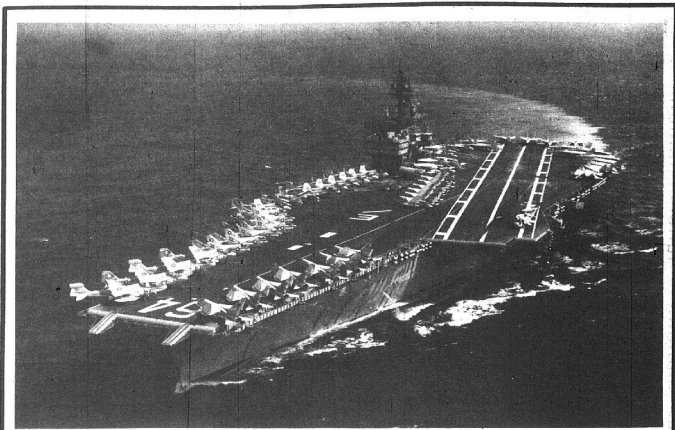

Illinois Supreme Court Justice Joseph Goldenhersh is never before had to consider the appointment of judges who lost retention races.

It has been standard courtesy in the Supreme Court to allow the justice from a specific district to recommend the circuit judge appointees, when there is a vacancy.

Effective Dec. 1, four of the seven circuit judgeships in the Third Judicial Circuit will be vacant. In addition to the vacancies caused by the failure of Mosele and DeLaurenti to obtain retention, a vacancy will exist when Judge Moses W. Harrison II resigns to accept his elected seat on the Appellate Court at Mount Vernon.

The other vacancy will be for the seat of Judge Harold R. Clark, who resigned during the summer to become a law judge for the U.S. Social Security Administration. Judge A.A. Matoesian has been filling Clark's vacancy by appointment of the Supreme Court, but was elected Nov. 4 to fill the vacancy created when Circuit Judge William Beatty left the bench to accept an appointment as a U.S. district judge at Alton.

FLOATING CITY. The majestic USS Constellation, largest aircraft carrier in the U.S. Fleet and home to a crew of 5,000, returns to her home port of San Diego after 110 days on station in Indian Ocean and Western Pacific, with AC3

Robert Kitchell of Granite City on board, accompanied by his father, Bob, and brother, Mike, who were "along for the ride" from Pearl Harbor.

Carrier 'cruise' for GC men

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

"It was quite an experience and they really enjoyed the trip," Mrs. Evelyn Kitchell said last week, commenting about a cruise taken by her husband, Bob, and sons, Robert and Mike, on board the USS Constellation.

The "Connie," as the giant aircraft carrier is called by its crew, is the largest vessel in the U.S. Fleet and home to more than 5,000 personnel, including AC3 Robert Kitchell.

The Kitchell family resides at 4116 Lake Drive.

Harbor and cruise the final leg of the return trip to San Diego as guests of the Navy.

"We really did enjoy it," Mike commented. He is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School North.

Robert Kitchell joined the Navy almost four years ago and is expecting to leave the service in February.

He is a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School South and was employed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center prior to enlisting.

His father is employed in the maintenance department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Enroute to the California port from Pearl, a six-day trip, the guests were able to see all aspects of everyday life for the men who ship out on the "floating city."

The vessel's arrival in San Diego was heralded with band music and many of the crew's families were at dockside to greet the servicemen and their guests, the Kitchells said.

BIG INVESTMENT IN STATE BY PRUDENTIAL. Topping $2.89 billion, Illinois investments of the Prudential Insurance Co. exceed by $100 million the company's assets in its home state, New Jersey. James E. Clark, president of Prudential's Mid-America operations, said this week that only California, New York and Texas have bigger state shares of the company's investment portfolio than Illinois' 5.6 percent.

Bonds and stocks accounted for more than $1.72 billion of Prudential's assets in Illinois. Real estate investments in the state, including mortgages, exceeded $986 million. Other assets in Illinois were worth more than $187 million. Prudential's total assets of more than $54.7 billion include $3.5 billion in U.S. government bonds and other assets that could not be apportioned geographically.

Sentence last defendant in gang rape on island

James K. Houser, 27, Arlington, Tex., pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of unlawful restraint in connection with the 1976 gang rape of two St. Louis women on Chouteau Island and has been sentenced by Circuit Judge A.A. Matoesian of Granite City to serve two years in prison.

Houser is the last of nine men charged in connection with the incident who have had their cases disposed of in Madison County Circuit Court. The other eight have been convicted and sentenced to prison.

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron told reporters he feels the plea and sentence are fair, since it is believed he was the least culpable of the nine. "He's not getting off unscathed," Byron said.

The two St. Louis women alleged the nine grabbed them from the street in St. Louis, drove them to Chouteau Island and then forced them to perform various sex acts.

TV film on region

The first segment of "East Side Story II," a three-part television documentary on the Madison-St. Clair counties area, is nearing completion.

The remaining segments are in various stages of development, according to John Regnell, director of Broadcasting Services at SIUE. Regnell expects all production work to be completed on the series by the end of this month. The documentary consists of three 30-minute television segments to be aired by KETC-TV, Channel 9, in the near future. Steve Clement of Broadcasting Services directs the production and Patricia Higgins is assistant producer.

"East Side Story II" is being underwritten by a grant from the Illinois Humanities Council. Ed Hudlin, assistant professor of philosophical studies at SIUE, is project director. A third generation East St. Louisan, he is a descendant of the Hudlin family that settled in St. Louis County almost 200 years ago. He is co-author of "East Side Story I," a television program produced by KETC-TV several years ago.

"East Side Story II" is a sequel to the earlier documentary. Hudlin said that after the production of the first film, there was great interest within the community for a follow-up which would deal with various problems of the area from a historical perspective.

The first segment of "East Side Story II" traces the development of Southern Illinois from its pioneer days to the present. Filming began last July at the Holy Family Church in Cahokia, a structure more than two centuries old.

The second program deals with issues and problems that occurred during that period, including East St. Louis' evolution as a steamboat and rail center, corruption in various administrations, and labor and industrial problems leading to the race riot of 1917.

The third program gives the visions of modern day pioneers who have presented plans for future cultural, social and economic growth. These plans range from the visionary designs of Buckminster Fuller, calling for a futuristic city to be built under one of his famous geodesic domes, to a plan for a marine city with luxury hotels and resorts that would permit the area to change its role from transportation to tourism.

First aid course registration now

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring an 8-hour multi-media first aid instructors course.

Classes will be conducted on two consecutive nights, Dec. 8 and 9, at the Granite City Fire Department, 2300 Madison Ave., from 6 to 10 p.m. both nights. With an ever increasing demand for classes it has made it necessary to recruit additional instructors to qualify for the instruction course.

Those wishing to enroll must have a valid certificate in multi-media first aid, advanced first aid, emergency care or standard first aid on personal safety, a spokesman for the local Red Cross office said.

Applicants must be 17 years of age and any individual interested in taking the course but does not have a valid multi-media certificate is advised to call the Red Cross, where arrangements can be made to place the student in class before date of the instruction course.

Registration is now being taken at the Red Cross office by calling 452-7184 or call chairman, Duriphan, first aid chairman, at 831-2714 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Tulip bulbs are still available

There are still approximately 80 packages of red tulip bulbs available for sale at the Chamber of Commerce office, 1831 Delmar Ave., according to Mrs. Jo Meyer, president of the Women's Division, of the Chamber, the sponsoring organization. Each bag is being sold for $5 and may be purchased at the local office or by calling 476-6400 to reserve a package. Mrs. Meyer noted. The president said the annual sale of tulip bulbs is provided to area residents for the purpose of a beautification project in the Quad-City area.

RANSACK HOUSE. Numerous items were missing from the dwelling of William Prytle, 3124 Princeton Drive, where the residents arrived home at 3:45 p.m. Monday and found the garage door open and the house had been ransacked. Entry was gained by breaking a basement window. An inventory was being made to determine what was taken.

Changes in state's attorney's office likely under Weber

State's attorney-elect Don Weber of Collinsville says it will be about two weeks before a final decision is made on who goes and who stays when he takes office Dec. 1.

But already it is apparent that seven current members of the state's attorney's office will be taking jobs elsewhere.

This list includes administrator Dewey Van Dyke and assistant state's attorneys Steve Mudge, Randy Hale, Dick Allen, Don Smith, Larry Keshner and Ted Diaz.

Last Friday, Weber said Mudge has informed him that he is leaving. Hale had planned to leave regardless of the outcome of last week's election, Weber said.

In that election, Weber, a Republican, defeated Nicholas Byron, the Democratic incumbent, by a slim margin.

During the campaign, Weber had indicated that Van Dyke, Smith and Allen would not be retained if he won election.

Weber said he will appoint a new administrator to replace Van Dyke. Byron didn't need an administrator because he didn't try cases and had the time to administer himself, Weber said.

Weber said he will need an administrator because he plans to spend 75 percent of this time in plea bargaining and prosecuting cases.

Assistant state's attorney Bob Trone will stay on, Weber said. Another Byron assistant, Keith Jensen, is expected to be retained and Stephanie Robbins, a former assistant state's attorney fired by Byron, is expected to return to the department, although Weber says these decisions haven't been made as yet.

Weber wants to employ a black assistant state's attorney; he isn't revealing the name of the person he has in mind. He also is planning to hire an assistant trained white collar crime, Weber told a reporter.

Weber said he is going to have expedited trials, a more active grand jury, a bad check program and will advocate imprisonment rather than probation for hard-core juvenile criminals and home burglars.

Weber declined Friday to say when he will resign as Collinsville street commissioner, the post he was elected to a year and one-half ago.

Meanwhile, Byron said there are several possible courses of action he may pursue when he leaves office next month.

One option under consideration is applying for one of the four judgeships open in the third judicial circuit, Byron said Friday.

Another possibility is running for the Illinois General Assembly in two years, he said. He has rejected a suggestion from someone in St. Clair County that he run for Illinois attorney general.

Returning to private legal practice is a possibility, too, he said.

Byron noted that he has placed the day-to-day operation of the state's attorney's office into the hands of four top assistants while he ties up loose ends.

The four assistants are Rich Ryback, Steve Mudge, Keith Jensen and Susan Jensen.

GC holding up use of new sewers, county committee members contend

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

An accusation that Granite City officials are the only ones keeping the new sewers in Nanticoke, Chouteau and Venice townships from being used immediately was voiced by members of the Madison County Special Sewer Committee last night at the regular committee meeting in the new Pontoon Beach Village Hall.

"If things are reasonable, next week we could start hooking (home sewers) on, but things are not reasonable," Committee

Chairman Louis Whitsell contended during the meeting, explaining that the Granite City Sewer Treatment Plant will be used to treat the sewage, but the city and the sewer committee have been unable to reach agreement on a treatment fee.

Whitsell also stated, "We are ready to turn this thing on. All we have to do is turn a valve at the sewage treatment plant and portions of the sewer could be used immediately."

He said that Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer has agreed to his support to the committee. "I met Monday afternoon with Mr. Hagauer and he assured me he will call a meeting with Paul Schuler (mayor of Granite City) and try to get this thing straightened out," Whitsell said.

Committee members at last night's meeting blasted city officials for refusing to honor a 1972 contract between the city and the sewer committee on treatment charges and accused the city officials of "just scratching out figures" and expecting the county to accept them.

Whitsell said, "We have had numerous meetings and they (the city officials) said they won't honor our contract. In addition to the agreed upon rate per gallon, they want to charge us a $10 per quarter surcharge, by city ordinance."

"We had Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., a well-known and respected firm, study the costs and suggest a treatment fee. They came very close to our $10 per month charge."

"City officials came out with another figure, scratched out on paper

Shipment of sludge resumes

Shipment of sludge from the Granite City sewage treatment plant to the SCA Services landfill resumed on Monday, Nov. 10, after having been blocked all of the previous week by the landfill staff.

Ren Ross, SCA regional manager in St. Louis, attributed the cutoff to a federal requirement for filing of laboratory test results to verify that what was being dumped was not hazardous.

Ross acknowledged that the deadline was not until Nov. 18, but said he ordered the termination of dumping at the start of this month to make sure that Granite City and other customers would be in compliance.

When the city pointed out that the deadline had not yet arrived, SCA agreed to permit sludge dumping this week, but said it will halt the trucks again after Saturday, Nov. 15, unless test reports are submitted.

Local treatment plant officials said this week that the sludge is not hazardous, that suitable test results were filed last spring, and that new testing has been completed and is in the process of being certified.

RECOVERED BURNED CAR
A 1974 Dodge Charger stolen from the home of Raymond Davis, 1640 Primrose Ave., was found partially burned on Pogue Road at 4 a.m. today, Granite City police were advised by the Madison County Sheriff's Office. Informed of the vehicle's recovery, the owner said the car was parked in front of his house at 1:45 a.m. today.

Taxes for county sewers may increase next year

The tax rate for residents of the Madison County sewer district might increase on next summer's tax bills, as compared to this summer's bills, and members of the Madison County special sewer committee don't know why.

Committee Chairman Louis Whitsell said before the committee's regular meeting last night that unofficial figures presented to him indicated the tax rate for the sewers might rise from the 82½ cents per $100 assessed valuation collected this summer to $1.35 or $1.36 per $100 assessed valuation next summer.

The county's finance committee last month noted that $392,510 would be required next year as payment on the bonds sold to finance part of the sewer construction, a jump of $25,000 from the amount paid in 1980. A spokesman for the county auditor said the $29,510 payment "has been in the schedule all along, but some people just didn't realize it."

Board Member Homer Boothman said he was unaware the rate was to rise next year, and speculated, "It is costing more than the people in Chicago told us it would."

Whitsell, however, explained the bond repayment schedule "is a set rate. The only way it could go up is if the assessed valuation goes down." He noted the 82½ cents paid last year was a large decrease from the $2.04 per $100 assessed valuation paid during the 1978 tax collected in the summer of 1979.

Boothman called the possible 1981 increase, "a ticklish situation."

Whitsell encouraged officials to determine a reason for the increase, so a proper explanation can be given to the taxpayers.

Venice sues railroad.

In a lawsuit filed Monday in Madison County Circuit Court, the city of Venice is seeking $15,000 from Illinois Terminal Railroad for alleged damage to the deck of McKinley Bridge caused by railway work done in 1978.

The suit contends that railroad workers removed portions of 15-foot wooden ties which supported not only the railroad bed, but also part of the automobile roadbed.

The removal decreased support of the automobile lanes and work to correct the problem would cost $15,000, according to the suit, filed by City Attorney Larry Hartman. It cites a 1958 agreement between the city and the railroad on use and maintenance of the bridge as a basis for the suit.

World role by Rotarians

Rotary Foundation Week was observed Tuesday by Granite City Rotarians, who viewed a film on Rotary International, worldwide scholarships, grants and health, humanity and hunger (3H) assistance.

The Rotary Foundation began functioning in 1928 after an initial trust was established in 1917. Since 1947, a major source of its funds has been contributions by Paul Harris fellows, honoring the founder of Rotary.

Granite City is among the more active clubs in the Harris program.

Total Rotary Foundation expenditures in the 1980-83 period are projected at $100 million, the club was told. The activities include overseas study by high school age students, and group exchanges in which young businessmen tour other countries. A group is scheduled to visit this district in March 1981.

President George Moore, a past district governor, was program chairman. Guest speaker was Malcolm Kindig of Alton, an aide to the present Rotary governor.

Blind student hopes to be a counselor

Awarded a Braille wristwatch by the American Council for the Blind this fall, Paul Saboff, a senior at SIUE, became blind three years ago in a gun accident. At that time, he was a registered X-ray technician at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

"I can still legally push an X-ray button, but none of the machines at hospitals in this area are automatic enough for me to use," he says.

Within nine months after his accident, Saboff came back to college. Most blind people take longer to adjust to the loss of their vision, but by the time he re-entered college, he had learned the Braille language and was able to operate a Braille typewriter. He could also use a cane.

Working toward a degree in human services, Saboff wants to go into counseling because he believes "it's an easy thing for a blind person to listen to people. I wouldn't have to type or file things—just listen."

He first obtained an applied science degree from Belleville Area College and has already earned 100 quarter hours of credit from SIUE. In some quarters, his schedule is full.

This summer, he completed 20 hours of classes. "I was home only to sleep and to answer the phone," he recalls.

Saboff was physically active before he was blinded; now he complains that he can't even walk fast. "I have a two-seater bicycle, but I can't always find people who want to ride with me," he comments.

There is at least one occasion when Saboff attempted to ride his bicycle into town. "I tried to take the bike path alone, but there are too many curves to learn," he relates. One winter, he got lost on the trail and suffered frostbite.

In addition to attending classes and figuring out new ways to do things he once did with the aid of his eyes, Saboff is involved in community activities.

He serves as secretary on the board of directors of the Madison County Association of the Blind and is a member of the Illinois Federation of the Blind. He is also a local, state and national member of the American Council of the Blind.

Saboff has not only mastered the Braille language for his own use, but has spent many hours helping teach others to cope with a darkened world.

His community involvement includes teaching Braille to a blind and deaf woman in an area nursing home. He also spends much of his time entertaining people in nursing homes with his guitar.

In addition, he puts in about 24 hours each week working on the hotline for the crisis intervention center for drug abuse in Collinsville. Saboff was awarded the watch at the Council's annual conference held in Louisville, Ky.

One of six such awards made nationally, it was based on involvement in organizations for the blind and community programs by blind college seniors.

FLAG FLYING CONTEST, conceived by Steve Konkovich, at center holding box, is initiated Tuesday morning near the Korea-era jet fighter in Wilson Park by Robert Glik, front foreground, son of Me Glik who donated a $100 savings bond for the possible winner. John and Joann Stanton, 2120 Amos Ave., were eventually chosen at random from the city directory, but they were not displaying a U.S. flag on Veterans' Day. The bond was not awarded, but the contest will occur again on Memorial Day when another resident of the city might win it if they are flying the flag that day. Military recruiters on hand included, from left at rear, Staff Sergeant Don Schroeder of the Army, Staff Sergeant Clark Jarrett of the Air Force, Sergeant Dave Riggs of the Marines and Petty Officer Ed Vennum of the Navy. All are recruiters in Granite City.

He had appeared at 2 p.m. Monday before a judge, who set bond at $1,000 cash after reviewing the case.

An officer spotted the vehicle in the Kirkpatrick Homes complex at 2:10 a.m. Monday. The car was stopped at Nameoki Road and St. Clair Avenue and Dodson was arrested a short time later.

$1 million damage to Boy Scout office

By MICK STRANGE

Fire, water and smoke did an estimated $1 million damage to the second floor of the new four story national office of the Boy Scouts of America.

The office is located in Irving, Texas, near the Dallas-Ft. Worth area.

The Irving fire marshal has announced that arson is suspected.

Several investigative bodies are making independent investigations, according to Scout officials. The fire detection system reported the fire at 11:10 p.m. Thursday, and two units of the Irving fire department arrived within a few minutes according to a Boy Scout spokesman.

The fire was so intense that 14 other pieces of fire equipment were called to the scene.

The fire was extinguished at 1:50 a.m. Friday, Nov. 7. Forty thousand square feet of office space was lost.

The west end of the second floor was totally destroyed which included all three program divisions; Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

Other division burned out included: camping and outdoor division, national events division, camping, conservation, service, engineering service, high adventure program division, volunteer training, health and safety, research and planning, and the International Scouting Division.

The east end of the second floor received heavy smoke and soot damage.

National Chief Scout Executive, J. L. Tarr estimated that it will take four months to rebuild and restore the entire second floor.

Order man to pay $525 fine

Larry L. Dunn, 20, of Bonne Terre, Mo., pleaded guilty to a charge of theft in an appearance before a judge at 1:40 p.m. Monday and was ordered to pay a $525 cash fine by Jan. 9, 1981.

Dunn was arrested Sunday while working on an old bus in a yard in the 1700 block of Maple Street.

He was charged in connection with a report filed by Richard Parizon, 1716 Spruce St., who said someone had stolen a 12 volt battery from his pickup truck which had been parked in his driveway.

Parizon called police two hours after making the initial report and alleged seeing his battery in the yard of a nearby residence. Officers went to the residence described by Parizon and allegedly found the battery and arrested Dunn, who was working on the vehicle, assisted by a 13-year-old boy. The juvenile was not charged.

Center cares for injured and orphaned wild animals

THE SEVEN DWARFS. This litter of seven raccoons were found when they were only about a week old, after their mother was killed in an accident. Dick and Adele Evans raised the tiny raccoons, bottle feeding them four times a day, until they were old enough to return to the wild.

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

What would you do if you discovered a motherless baby raccoon, owl, hawk or other wild animal? Who would you turn to for help if you discovered a squirrel with a broken leg?

There never were any easy answers to these questions, so Adele Evans, a former Granite City resident, and her husband, Dick Evans, a veterinarian, founded the non-profit Treehouse Wildlife Center, Inc., in Brighton for the rescue and rehabilitation of animals in need. It serves Madison and Macoupin counties.

"We sort of fill the gap between the Humane Society and the Conservation Department," Mrs. Evans says, adding, "No one else does what we do."

She said the center, which has aided hundreds of wild animals, is supported by donations and by persons who buy $10 per year memberships, entitling them to receive the newsletter, "Tree House Droppings."

The aim of the center is to prepare motherless or injured animals to return to the wild. "We take care of the animals until they are able to make it on their own," Mrs. Evans said.

Raccoons, for example, are taken to the Shawnee National Forest in Southern Illinois and are set free. "It always hurts to take an animal you have raised or care for and turn him loose," she said. Her latest heartbreak came when she reluctantly realized that "Squirt," a raccoon she had raised from infancy, was ready to return to the wild. When she first got Squirt, his mother had been killed and he had pneumonia.

She explained she has "mixed feelings," in turning an animal loose. Although she is attached to all of the animals, there is a feeling of pride and happiness for the animals when they are well enough to be released.

Mrs. Evans fed him with a baby bottle and she and her husband gave him special treatment to cure him of the pneumonia. Months later, it was time for Squirt to return to the wild and he was released.

Since its formation about two years ago, the Treehouse Wildlife Center has taken care of 17 raccoons, including a litter of seven, found when they were a week old. Their mother had been killed and the Evans took the seven babies home with them, so they could be bottle fed four times a day. They were named after the Seven Dwarfs. Later, Sleepy, Doc, Dopey and the others were returned to the wild.

It also has returned rabbits, hawks, squirrels, a mockingbird, two pigeons and a dove to health and to new environments in the wild.

Sometimes even the love and the medical care the animals receive at the Treehouse center are not enough. One rough-legged hawk brought to the center had been shot and it was necessary for Dick Evans to amputate half of one of its wings.

Since it would have been impossible for the hawk to compete for food or survive in the wild, it had to be kept in captivity for two years. Finally, last Labor Day, health problems made it necessary to put the hawk away.

"Most wild animals do not do well in captivity. When people find wildlife animals, they usually do more harm than good, and they don't realize it. People who find wild animals should leave them outside. The change in temperature indoors is very hard on animals," Mrs. Evans explained.

Birds are frequently injured in storms. They wear themselves out attempting to fight against the strong winds and finally drop to the ground. Once down, they are too weak to fly again. The wildlife center works to strengthen them so they can fly again.

Food is always a problem at the Treehouse center, Mrs. Evans said, since attempts are made to give the animals what they would eat in the wild.

The hawks eat mice, the raccoons eat a special formula and the mockingbird will eat anything from worms to hamburger.

It is not unusual to find Mrs. Evans out catching grasshoppers or digging up worms for the animals. The Treehouse Wildlife Center is licensed by state and federal agencies to care for wild animals. She warned that it is illegal for individuals who find injured wild animals to attempt to nurse them back to health in their homes, without proper licenses.

The Humane Societies in the area are not the only contributors of animals to the Treehouse Wildlife Center. "A lot of people bring us a lot of different wild animals. We don't charge anything to take in a wild animal. We exist strictly on memberships and donations," she explained.

More members and additional donations would be welcomed, she said, noting that there are a lot of improvements she and her husband would like to make at the wildlife center.

"We need more cages and an incubator. We also would like to set up a diagnostic lab so we would be able to find out immediately what is the matter with the animals we receive," she noted.

Donations or memberships may be sent to the Treehouse Wildlife Center, Inc., Rural Route One, Box 125-E, Brighton, Ill., 62012, or the center can be reached by phone at 1-372-8092.

PREPARING FOR SURGERY. Dr. Dick Evans, left, and Dr. Dave Faria, a veterinary student who worked at the Treehouse Wildlife Center, prepare a hawk for surgery to save its life. The center treats and cares for many types of wild creatures, including birds, always attempting to prepare the animals to return to the wild.

Rehabilitation program for lung ailments planned

Mike Range, director of cardiopulmonary services at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, was a guest speaker of the Madison-Venice Rotary, outlining the pulmonary rehabilitation program which is tentatively scheduled to open in December.

The program will benefit those who suffer from one of the four basic types of chronic obstructive lung disease — emphysema, chronic bronchitis, asthma and small airways disease.

Range said there has been "increased interest in preventive medicine by the medical community. This is a reaction to the fact that the death rate from pulmonary disease has doubled every five years for the past 20 years, and the government is spending millions of dollars every year in disability payments."

"SEMC will work with chronic lung disease patients to maximize their living functions. "Just being able to stand up and take a shower can be a challenging experience to a patient, so reconditioning and strengthening the muscles are major priorities."

"The program also seeks input from family members to encourage the patients to become self sufficient and reach the ultimate goal of a full and satisfying life in the community."

Marking of street lanes proceeding

The City of Granite City is playing catch-up on painting of stripes and lanes on municipal streets due to the fact that state crews to perform promised thermoplastic marking at the speed that had been indicated, Alderman said at last week's City Council session.

Alderman Roy Poulos urged expediting of painting at Niedringhaus and Edison avenues, and Alderman Warren Decatur cited painting work needed at the Nameki Road intersection with Johnson and Fehling roads. Alderman Charles Hines mentioned Madison Avenue and the Kirkpatrick Homes area.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer said the city no longer is counting on state help and is carrying out the painting tasks itself. The city is using its own motorists into appropriate lanes and to designate pedestrian crosswalks.

In other business, City Inspector Emerald Daves suggested hiring Robert Gray, a part-time employee, as a full-time station worker. Alderman Sam Whitmer, Sanitation Commission chairman, asked that council members study the proposal and decide at the Nov. 18 meeting.

Daves said the employee is qualified and licensed to handle mosquito spraying equipment and also could be helpful in supervising comprehensive employment and training Act (CETA) workers.

He would be hired as a Teamster and would be paid $16,383 yearly, Daves added. Mayor Paul Schuler announced that South-Western Cable TV has agreed to extend cable service to the North Granite area as soon as authorization is obtained from railroads to install a cable beneath the 23rd Street railroad crossing. Approval is expected later this month, he noted.

The council accepted a $407 payment from South-Western as three percent of $1,358 returned in July, August and September. The firm said it is serving 1,935 Granite City customers.

A letter from police alleged that the owner of the Long Branch Tavern fired an automatic pistol into the air to quell a fight in the tavern. City Attorney John Papa asked that the report be filed and said the occurrence probably did not warrant punitive action.

Alderman Poulos contended that "in old times, they did that all the time." Alderman Douglas responded, "Yes, but that was when everybody was wearing a six-shooter on his hip."

Notice was received that the Barber Coleman Co. is seeking to place a $3,505 lien on city work performed between May and September 1979 by Triangle Heating Co. and M. H. Wolfe & Co.

The council voted to remove Parking Meter 940 near the Reese Drug Store on Niedringhaus Avenue to permit free parking by handicapped persons.

It was noted that the city attorney is conferring with the Land of Lincoln Legal Aid Society on ways of improving access to council meetings for handicapped citizens.

It was decided to establish a no-parking zone on 20th Street at the Public Library to enable parents' cars to pause there as they deliver children to the children's section of the library.

Alderman Douglas praised the work of police in maintaining crowd and traffic control at the Nov. 3 appearance in Granite City by President Jimmy Carter. Chief Ronald Veizer agreed that "we were very involved" in tasks associated with presidential security.

He said a list of expenses related to the occasion is being prepared. The council decided to seek repair bids on wind damage occurring in October at the city sewage treatment plant.

Five auto stickers were ordered on the basis of a $2,072 low bid.

Alderman Everett Morlen presented bids on two defense walkie-talkie radios for analysis and a recommendation.

Morlen told the council that charitable collections at Nameki and Johnson roads Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 delayed the city's annual budget. Alderman Glen Sprinkle said that he was in the area and experienced no delay.

Fire Chief Donald Francis reported that repairs were made to brakes on the newest city fire truck.

Township bids approved for payment totaled $12,779 in the general assistance fund, $12,649 in the town fund and $4,487 in the revenue sharing fund.

Expenses were authorized for those wishing to attend a city convention of township officials Nov. 9-13 in Springfield.

Woman hurt at 27th-Madison

An accident in the 2700 block of Madison Avenue at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, involved vehicles operated by Scott A. Ahlers, 2601 E. 28th St., and Ruth Travis, 2014 Bryan Ave.

Both autos were northbound when another vehicle, which left the scene, stopped abruptly to pick up a passenger and a collision resulted between the Travis and Ahlers cars.

Mr. Travis reportedly sustained an injury.

Green case

Green, the reporters or the Telegraph should not be liable for the results of the memo being sent, it is argued.

The sixth point notes that the reporters did not know when they sent the memo that the Justice Department would send the confidential memo to other agencies, such as the FBI, and the reporters could not have foreseen what would happen.

The seventh motion seeks a new trial on the contention that Green's attorney, Rex Carr, acted improperly during the trial in calling one witness a liar and in using improper testimony and improper questions on numerous occasions.

The eighth motion seeks a new trial on the contention that Judge Chapman acted improperly in ruling that two types of evidence could not be presented early in the trial. One was evidence of events after November, 1969. That order later was withdrawn, but Telegraph attorneys contend that not being able to use that evidence early in the trial hampered their presentation.

The other type of evidence which should have been allowed into the trial, but was not, according to the Telegraph's attorneys, was evidence relating to a previous trial in which Green was acquitted from a voter defendant. Such evidence could have affected the jury's evaluation of the amount of compensation they felt Green should receive.

The ninth motion, made by the newspapers defense attorneys was that Judge Chapman should not have allowed Green to testify on the amount of money he would have made, had the memo not been written, and on the damage to his reputation. He did not have proper credentials to make either judgment, the attorneys argue.

Judge Chapman heard the oral arguments in a hearing which lasted about 1:15 a.m. to 2 a.m. Tuesday and took the motions under advisement.

He told the Press-Record later Tuesday that he will now have to study laws related to the various points presented by the Telegraph attorneys before making his rulings. He pledged that the rulings will be made in a short time, definitely before Dec. 1.

Bright potential

way use fees and harbor development as well as ways to attract water-related industry.

Mathias quoted Clarence C. Barksdale, chairman and chief executive officer of First Union Bancorporation, as pushing for orderly and prompt port development in the 70-mile area encompassed by the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis. The RGA provides coordination and research for the seven port districts within the metropolitan port.

McCarthy said Sverdrup's three-month study spotlighted grain processing and handling, corn sweetener production, ethanol manufacture, fertilizer distribution, aluminum production, metals fabrication, coal distribution, petroleum terminals and chemical distribution as well-suited for St. Louis area sites.

In picking preferred locations, the planners considered immediate availability, with single ownership; desirability, including water, railway and road access; and site development costs, including highway connections and levee construction where required.

From north to south, the primary sites chosen were the North Shore Country Club land near Interstate 270 and Riverview Boulevard in St. Louis and St. Louis County; the Tri-City Port; an 82-acre Eagle Marine Corp. site and a 33-acre Cooper Fox terminal, both south of the MacArthur Bridge near Route 3 in Illinois; and 80-acre National Lead Co. property adjacent to Broadway in south St. Louis.

Intermediate development sites, again from north to south, were listed as 18 acres on the St. Louis north riverfront; a 58-acre Southern Railway site near the MacArthur Bridge in Illinois; a 40-acre St. Louis County quarry; Glen Park in Jefferson County, Mo.; and the Kaskaskia River in Randolph County, a site situated on Illinois Rt. 154 between Red Bud and Baldwin.

Tracts believed to have long-range potential are the St. Charles County Missouri-Mississippi rivers confluence site north of Columbia Bottoms, and Arsenal Island near Rt. 3 in Illinois.

"Much interest is developing," McCarthy commented.

Ranf called for intense effort, noting that prospects have "not yet begun beating on our door."

Kerth declined to give a development timetable but voiced the expectation that tangible results will be seen "very shortly."

He added that "many seeds are being sown, and we are working with a dozen prospects at present."

Ranf and Kerth agreed there is little or no Illinois-Missouri rivalry, and added that the direction in which products are to be shipped plays a key role in east-west site decisions.

While rail shipments that must cross the metropolitan area remain a problem from the standpoint of delays, a new report on railroad relocation plans is due early in 1981 and may lead to expediting of freight car movements, McCarthy said.

Ranf noted that port industrial revenue bond financing for this area has been simplified by state approval of a flexible interest rate equal to 70 percent of the Illinois prime rate.

Kerth concluded that growing attention being given nationally to multi-modal transportation centers such as the Tri-City Port.

Peppermint players prepare for tour

This is the 8th year for the Granite City High School North Peppermint Players. The director and founder of this unique group is Dr. Goni Michaeloff, speech department chairman at North.

The Peppermint Players are students enrolled in the Children's Theater classes at North each semester. The Peppermint Girl and Peppies are leaders of the Peppermint Players, a children's theater touring group that performs at the elementary public schools in Granite City School District 9.

The Peppermint Girl and Peppies introduce the play to the children. They also conclude the program with a special farewell. On occasion they have also served as special characters in the various productions over the years.

The productions are adaptations of classic children stories and sometimes the students write their own scripts. Students make most of their costumes, and build portable scenery pieces for the show.

This year, the Stagecraft class students will build the scenery pieces and properties for the productions.

Each North student enrolled in Children's Theater class has an acting part in the production.

The newly selected Peppermint Girl is Lisa Salem, and Kim Woodward is a newly selected Peppie.

The other Peppies are: Lisa Randall, Carla Cunningham and Jeannie Trimmer.

Whenever a vacancy occurs, through graduation, a new Peppermint Girl or Peppie is selected at tryouts. Auditions include: round-offs, cartwheels, and acting of a children's story.

Once selected, the Peppermint Girl and Peppies remain as leaders of the Peppermint Players until they graduate.

The fall semester class tour will be on Friday, Dec. 12.

The two spring semester classes will tour one day each on April 9 and 10, 1981.

Probe fire that caused $17,000 damage

Arson and burglary are suspected in a $17,000 fire which destroyed part of the residence of Dorothy Tayon, 1635 Edison Ave., at 11:35 p.m. Monday.

Firefighters extinguished the blaze and remained at the scene two hours and five minutes.

Police said Miss Tayon was out of town Monday and was planning to return the following day and take inventory to determine what may be missing from the dwelling.

It is believed a Magnavox console television along with other items of value were taken by the burglars prior to the fire starting.

The fire began in a bedroom closet, according to a spokesman for the fire department. The blaze gutted one bedroom and burned through the ceiling and flooring of the upper story.

The fire was discovered when someone from the neighborhood was driving in the 1600 block of Edison and smelled smoke. He then saw smoke coming from a front window and alerted a relative to call the fire department.

The man went back to the house in an effort to learn if anyone was inside the burning structure.

A neighbor told him that no one was in the dwelling, he informed police. Checking inside after the fire, police said that two bedrooms had been ransacked with the drawers in cabinets opened and the contents thrown on the floor and beds. The kitchen also had been ransacked.

Pry marks were noted on a rear door, which was standing open when firemen arrived.

A neighbor reported seeing four young men near 1635 Edison about 12 noon Monday and watched them open a back gate and go into the rear yard.

One man knocked on the door of the dwelling and the neighbor inquired what he wanted and he asked if anyone was home. The same question and answer were repeated twice, police were advised.

A few moments later, the resident saw the four men standing at the end of the block and then leave.

Inquiries were made of other residents and police learned one person saw two men carrying a large console television along the alley in the 1600 block, between Edison and Delmar, about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

The men had rested briefly, putting the machine down, then resumed carrying the set and cut through a yard toward Delmar Avenue.

Miss Tayon was contacted and confirmed that she did own a large console television. The TV was not in the house when police checked, it was learned.

Damage to the building was estimated at $12,000 and $5,000 to contents. An investigation is continuing.

Leaf burning on streets illegal

The illegal burning of leaves on asphalt streets and oiled and chipped streets in the city is creating "quite a problem," Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell said this morning, warning that residents who disobey the law may be facing a fine.

He said this year's paving and oil and chipping program put the city's streets in good condition, and leaf burning is now damaging many of the streets.

"It is against the law to burn leaves on asphalt or oiled and chipped streets, so we are encouraging everyone to obey the law, also am asking the police to aid us in enforcing the law," Portell concluded.

RECORDINGS STOLEN

Tape recordings valued at about $180 were taken from the vehicle of Herman Schrober, 2522 West moreland Drive, it was discovered at 8:50 a.m. Wednesday. There was forced entry to the locked vehicle.

WINDOW DAMAGED

As she was parking her auto at Church's Fried Chicken, 3142 N. Oriole St., Venice, reported backing into a plate glass window at 12:08 p.m. Monday. She declined medical attention. Damage to the window was estimated at $300.

GC girl, 17, reports rape

A 17-year-old Granite City girl told police at 9:25 a.m. Wednesday an acquaintance of her fiancé raped her when he came to her home to deliver firewood last week.

The girl said the man, who was about six feet tall and weighed 200 pounds, pulled her down onto a couch to commit the act. She was too afraid of him to run for help or report the crime earlier, she said.

The incident occurred about 12 noon Nov. 3. She knew her assailant only by a first name, the girl told police.

Driver robbed

Thomas Euson, Richmond Heights, Mo., told authorities he was robbed by a man with a blue steel revolver on McCambridge Avenue near the viaduct Wednesday night.

The victim said he was driving his van on Route 203 when he stopped to aid a man waving for help who was standing beside a "dark-colored Buick at the side of the road."

He drove the man south to the stop lights and the man displayed the revolver, ordered Euson to make a U-turn and they drove north over the viaduct. The robber then ordered Euson to stop his car and turn over his wallet, which contained $80 cash, credit cards and other items.

The robber then got out of the van and fled on foot. Euson went to the Madison Police Department to report the incident. The robber was black, about 20 to 25 years old, and had a thin mustache and an Afro hairstyle, authorities were told.

$850 BURGLARY
Items valued at more than $850 were taken during a burglary at the home of Louis Keil, 3217 Wilshire Drive, discovered Wednesday morning. A window was broken to gain entry and tools, a tape recorder, liquor, magazines and coins were taken.

News notes

As outlined in detail in the Press-Record Nov. 3 in an article headed "4 bus routes here in danger," the Bi-State Transit System plans severe cutbacks in bus service Jan. 1 unless local-level funding is provided in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties. The Madison County Board will decide Nov. 26 whether to set up a county transit district for a one-year period and create a quarter-cent sales tax as a bus subsidy, or whether to delay funding until county residents vote on the proposal.

Another 348 Illinois prisoners were released ahead of time this week as the state continued efforts to make room for new inmates. There have been nine such early discharges since June, totaling 2,125. There are 11,753 in custody.

The Belleville Area College board will meet at 4 p.m. tomorrow to consider negotiations and personnel matters. Part of the faculty has been on strike last week and this week, and the college and strikers are slated to confer with a federal mediator Friday morning. Some of the 115 nursing students are considering legal action to try to force a resumption of classes.

House Armed Services Chairman Melvin Price (D) said this week he agrees with most of the military spending increases proposed by Sen. John Tower (R), incoming chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Auto insurance rate reductions of up to 24 percent for Illinois motorists were announced this week by the Kemper group.

Governor James R. Thompson ordered a 60-day hiring freeze at state agencies Wednesday, citing a potential revenue-expenditure imbalance in the state government.

City Treasurer Nick Petrillo of Granite City was re-elected this week as second vice president of the Township Officials of Illinois. About 2,000 are attending the 71st annual TOI educational conference in Springfield.

Tax relief and nuclear waste disposal are among the topics as the Illinois General Assembly resumes its deliberations. In a session that began Wednesday, legislators also will act on bills vetoed by the governor.

Bids to build an $11,800,000 SIUE multipurpose recreational and athletic facility will be sought starting next Monday. Thompson Associates, architects and engineers, designed the proposed structure, for which state funding has been approved. It will include a gymnasium with basketball seating for 5,200.

Kaegel recalls rescue of 4,300 Japanese in 1946

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

When the cruise ship Prinsendam was evacuated in the Gulf of Alaska last month, newspaper accounts acclaimed the rescue of the 533 passengers and crewmen as the largest single-ship rescue in modern history. However, the men who served on the U.S. Navy freighter Brevard on Jan. 22, 1946, disagree.

On that date, the Brevard, whose crew included Ray Kaegel of Kaegel Real Estate and Insurance Agency, Inc., 2721 Madison Ave., was honored for rescuing 4,296 Japanese from their sinking repatriation ship, the Enoshima Maru, in a 25-minute period in the China Sea, 60 miles off the mouth of the Yangtze River.

Kaegel, who was an ensign and first lieutenant in damage control at that time, recalled that the 5,000-ton Brevard, was trailing the Enoshima Maru by about three and one-half miles when the Japanese ship, with men, women and children jamming its holds, struck a mine. About 20 Japanese were killed instantly. The blast shook the Brevard, even at that distance.

The skipper of the Brevard, Lt. John L. O. Elliott, brought his ship near the sinking Japanese ship and waited for a request for help. When he received the call for assistance, he moved the Brevard along side of the crippled Enoshima Maru, cast two lines between the ships and recalled the Japanese began climbing the lines and scrambling aboard the Brevard. Ladders, boards, ropes and anything which could connect the two ships were used to bring the Japanese civilians aboard. Several persons fell between the ships and either drowned or were killed in the Brevard's propellers, according to written accounts of the rescue.

After all but about 75 Japanese had transferred ships, Lt. Elliott judged that the Enoshima Maru was sinking so quickly that there was danger of the ship toppling over onto the Brevard or sucking it down with the sinking ship, so he ordered the ships separated.

Those left on the Japanese ship were transferred in small boats to the Brevard. The rescue 99 percent effective.

The Brevard, which was outfitted only for 109 crewmen, including 10 officers, was jammed with about 4,350 persons as it sailed toward Jukong Wharf in Japan. Kaegel recalled all the holds, the cabins, the hallways and the deck were jammed with people. Every inch of the 350-foot long and 50-foot wide Brevard sheltered someone.

Sanitation was a severe problem, but despite the lack of room, privacy or facilities, Lt. Commander James A. Hennessey, who treated the sick and injured, successfully delivered a healthy baby during the night, who was named Brevard, in honor of the rescue ship.

When the Brevard docked the following day, the crew was greeted with cheers of appreciation. More appreciation was to come as the commander of the Seventh Fleet and chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet sent a message of commendation to the Brevard and its crew, honoring them for "seamanship and energetic prompt action with resulted in the rescue of over 4,200 survivors of the Enoshima Maru."

Lt. Elliott and his wife were invited in 1962 to visit Japan for a month as the guest of Capt. Juzaburo Kato, who was the captain of the Enoshima Maru. They accepted the invitation and were entertained by many of the survivors of the incident.

Lt. Elliott since has passed away, but his wife still makes an annual trip to Japan to visit with the Katos and others, Kaegel said.

Special programs at library

To celebrate Children's Book Week, Nov. 17-23, the Children's Department of the Granite City Public Library has planned several special programs.

Nov. 18 is officially the birthday of Mickey Mouse, and the evening storytime at the branch library, 6 Nameoki Village, will have this special birthday as its theme. The program, scheduled for 7 to 8 p.m., will include Mickey Mouse cartoons, stories, and refreshments. Preschool and primary-age children are encouraged to attend.

Nov. 22, at 2 p.m., the staff of the Children's Department at the main library, 2001 Delmar Ave., will present a puppet show, "The Frog Prince," which tells the story of a prince who is turned into a frog by a wicked wizard, will last approximately 30 minutes.

This will be the first of a series of puppet shows presented in the coming year.

Throughout the week materials will be available in the Children's Department for the children to use in making their own bookmarks. Coloring sheets and special bookmarks will also be given away.

In addition, children will have a chance to vote for the best book they have ever read, the worst book they have ever read, and their favorite author.

The regular storytimes at 10-10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will feature special stories and filmstrips. Parents are encouraged to bring their preschool children. The children do not have to be enrolled in a daycare center or group in order to participate.

Quad-Cityans may call the Granite City Public Library, 876-0550, for more information on storytimes or Children's Book Week programs.

Coal sparks rail shipping; record income

Norfolk and Western Railway had record net income for the third quarter and nine months. The railroad had consolidated third quarter net income of $43 million, or $1.38 a share, a primary common share, up 9 percent from the old record of $39 million, or $1.28 a share, in the 1979 period.

For the first nine months, NW's net income rose to $151 million, 7 percent higher than the prior record of $141 million in the year earlier period. Revenues for the first nine months were $1.15 billion, up 8 percent from $1.07 billion.

John P. Fishwick, chairman and chief executive officer, told a meeting of securities analysts in New York that "strong coal traffic, particularly export traffic, helped to offset the continuing impact of the recession on NW's merchandise traffic base."

Third quarter revenues from coal and coke hauling rose 22 percent over last year, while merchandise traffic revenues were down 10 percent from the year earlier period.

Fishwick said the market for export coal was strong because of a lengthy strike in the coal fields of Australia and a reduction in coal exports by Poland, both of which increased demand for American metallurgical coal. NW originated 6.9 million tons of export coal in the third quarter, up 41 percent from 4.9 million a year earlier.

That gain more than offset essentially flat traffic patterns in steam coal shipments to utilities and a 20 percent drop in domestic metallurgical coal shipments.

Quad-Cityans may call the Granite City Public Library, 876-0550, for more information on storytimes or Children's Book Week programs.

Arlin Davis trial Nov. 17

The Arlin Davis case is scheduled to go to trial Monday, Nov. 17.

The case is to be heard by Circuit Judge Victor Mosse. Davis, a resident of Holiday Mobile Home Court, has been charged with three counts of reckless homicide, one count of driving while intoxicated and one count of driving on a revoked license.

The charges stem from a two-car accident last New Year's Eve on State Aids in which three Granite City residents were killed. The trial has been delayed several times, but there is only "a slight possibility" it could be delayed again, said Keith Jensen, assistant Madison County State's Attorney.

Jensen said the case has been given "number one priority" by outgoing State's Attorney Nicholas Byron. He said the new state's attorney, Don Weber, also considers it a priority case, and has asked Jensen to remain on the case, if it is not offered before Weber takes office Dec. 1.

The accident last New Year's Eve resulted in the death of Larry Lehman, 42, and his two daughters, Nicole, 5, and Stacy, 1. Lehman's wife, Beverly, 27, was injured in the accident.

Theresa Province and Sam Valencia are wed

Miss Theresa Elaine Province, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin G. Province of Irontone, Mo. and Sam Valencia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Able Valencia of Houston, Texas, formerly of Granite City, were united in marriage on Saturday, Aug. 30, at 6 o'clock in the evening, at the Namoki United Methodist Church, of Granite City.

The Rev. Gene Seaman performed the double ring ceremony. Organist David Long accompanied soloist Greg Heavner as he played the guitar and sang, "The Wedding Song," "Longer Than" and "The Lords Prayer."

For her wedding the bride selected a floor length gown of white organza over taffeta. Floral silk Venise lace, with seed pearls, enhanced the molded bodice fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt with a flounce of crystal pleating merged into a modified train.

She carried a cascade bouquet of handmade silk gardenias, pink rose buds, rose colored daisies and sprigs of baby's breath.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Peggy Kuester. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donna Whitman and Miss Vicki Province, sisters of the bride.

They chose matching pink floral chiffon gowns. Each attendant carried a white basket with daisies, carnations, rose buds and purple forget-me-nots.

Best man was Alan Valencia, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Tony McNally and Gene Briggs. Bob Galvan and Domingo Valencia served as ushers.

Both mothers wore corsages of miniature rose buds and daisies.

book was Mrs. Sue Reading, sister of the groom.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at Polish Hall, Madison. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Charlie's Restaurant.

Philippians 4:13... "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

If this Scripture is true for Paul the Apostle then it is true for us. We can do all things. All things covers your situation. Your home, marriage, children, job, all things.

We can do it through Christ. Not in our knowledge, nor strength, nor our friends, but through Christ. Christ is the way, the truth, and the life. He makes a way where there seems to be no way. He that is in us is greater than he that is in the world.

Rehearse this Scripture every morning when you rise. Write it down on a paper and carry it with you. In any situation you feel that you need strength, take it. And believe it. And be ready to receive it!

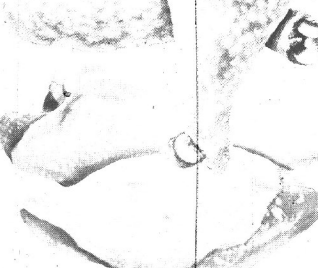

Christ will strengthen you! Today.

Meet Illinois Prep Soccer's 'Elite Eight'

Game One Friday, 12 p.m.

SOUTH (23-2-1) vs. Whin. Chr. (17-4-1)

The first quarterfinal game of the tournament matches Davey and Goliath. The Granite City South Warriors are the four-time defending state champions and come from a school with an enrollment of 2,151. On the other side, Wheaton Christian's Warriors are making their first appearance ever in the State Finals and come from a school with a total enrollment of just 289. But size doesn't matter now. Wheaton Christian has gone up against some of the toughest schools in its area and has come out as the representative. Wheaton features a balanced scoring attack, with seniors Dan Hammon and Stan Higgs leading with 11 goals apiece. A ball-control type team, they have worn down opponents all season.

South, meanwhile, is led by All-State, All-American David Fernandez, who will be making his fourth — and final — State Finals appearance. He has scored 23 goals this season, including six of his team's eight in post-season play-offs. But believe it or not, South's Warriors aren't a one-man team. Besides Fernandez, South has All-Stater David Paz (a junior) and a host of others to confuse the opposition. Among those others are Robbie Mann (who earned All-State accolades last season at Collinsville High), sophomore Bill Henecey and secretary of the defense Greg White anchoring down the backfield. The list goes on and on.

Game Two Friday, 2:30 p.m.

Bowen (17-1-0) vs. Gordon Tech (18-3-2)

The second quarterfinal game features the team with the best win-loss percentage in the playoffs, Chicago Bowen. Bowen's Bulldozers advanced to the State Finals with an overtime win Monday over Chicago Sem in the Chicago Public League playoff championship game. Bowen returns almost everybody from a team that made it to the Elite Eight last season. An inner-city school, Bowen has an enrollment of 2,774. Its coach is John O'Leary.

Gordon Tech is a team familiar to the Granite Cityans — if not this season's squad, at least it is a familiar, if unfriendly face among the Elite Eight to fans of both Granite City South and Granite City North. Gordon Tech's Rams made a Southern Illinois swing during the 1977 season and went limping back to Chicago after being humiliated by a few Southern Illinois teams. A few fastieus occurred along the way.

But this season's team, of course, is not the 1977 team. The Rams have a solid team, another physical bunch. Gordon Tech is coached by Phillip Birch and has an enrollment of 5,268.

Game Three Friday, 5:30 p.m.

Palatine (19-3-1) vs. Glenbrook (15-3-1)

If any team has a home-field advantage, it's Palatine. Even though the Pirates aren't playing on their very own field, they have played on the field at Palatine Fremd (site of the Finals) three times this season. They lost there the first two times to Fremd but came back to get their arch-rival 3-0 in the sub-sectionals. Palatine has a big, bruising team, used to getting what it goes after. According to head coach Rod Gibbs, the Pirates rely first on their defense, then on their offense. They are led in scoring by center-forward Rich Rizabasian with 28 goals. Winger Jeff Moore has 11.

Palatine goalie Steph Herndon has given up 22 goals in 23 games and was named to the Illinois High School Soccer Coaches Association All-State team. Palatine has an enrollment of 2,587.

Glenbrook North has come a long way this season. The first part of the campaign, the Spartans had to get acclimated to the system of first-year coach Dr. Michael Radakovich. The second part, they put the system to work. The third part is still underway.

Glenbrook North is making its first appearance in the Finals. Its enrollment is 2,527.

Game Four Friday, 7 p.m.

Hinsdale (14-4-3) vs. Hinckley (26-3-1)

Hinckley-Big Rock, enrollment 300. Ah yes, last season's Cinderella team in the State Finals has returned. The Royals of head coach Larry Peppers made it all the way to the semifinals last season before losing to Granite City in a brutally physical game.

Hinckley's back and just as physical. It has the most wins of any team in the Finals. Last season, Hinckley made a trip through Southern Illinois and played Granite South — and lost. This season, the Royals made another trip but didn't meet South. They did play Collinsville and Alton, however. Collinsville whipped the Royals 3-0 in a game that got so rough that Peppers took his team off the field — later to return. Alton tied them. The Royals are another team used to getting what they want. If not through skill, then usually with a little "friendly" persuasion.

Hinsdale South's Hornets are coached by Larry Foss. They come from a school with an enrollment of 1,867 and have a 14-4-3 record going into the State Finals.

Wheaton coach wants surprises

WEST CHICAGO — Wheaton Christian soccer coach Jay Martin hopes his team can keep surprising people for three more games.

Martin's team wasn't supposed to be there at the end of the season. But there it is — getting ready for the game of its life Friday when it meets defending state champion Granite City South in the quarterfinals of the Illinois High School Association State Soccer Tournament at Palatine Fremd High (12 p.m. kickoff time).

Wheaton Christian will be David trying to slay the Goliath of Illinois prep soccer. The Wheaton Warriors will be making their first State Final appearance ever, while Granite City South's Warriors, who have won the last four Illinois prep titles, will be making its eighth (fifth in a row).

But none of that seems to bother Martin, in his first year as coach at Wheaton Christian. "We've been the underdogs all year long," he said. "Our guys have a good attitude. All season long, people said that West Chicago would be the one to represent our area in the Finals. But our guys bucked down when they had to."

Playing Granite City South, which has dominated Illinois prep soccer since the sport was sanctioned by the IHSAA in 1972, doesn't particularly bother Martin either. "They, we figure we'd have to play them sooner or later," he said. "You have to beat the best to be the best. We might as well play them when we're fresh."

Christian's Warriors pride themselves on their team work. "That has to be our strongest point," said Martin. "We're a control team. We control the ball and work it in."

"We don't have one dominating player," he said. "So many guys have scored. It's pretty balanced. It seems each game we have somebody different taking charge."

Wheaton's scoring statistics bear out that balance. Leading the team in goals are senior forward Dan Hammon and senior Stan Higgs with 11 each. Next in line is sophomore Steve Adolph with eight. Higgs, along with senior halfback Randy Mains and senior wing Paul Lorensen are Christian's tri-captains.

Wheaton goalie Gary Gulley, a 6-1 senior, has 12 shutouts to his credit and has given up 15 goals in 19 games. "He's smart," said Martin. "He knows how to be a traffic director back there. His communication is good."

Communication, Martin said that when his team has gotten into trouble this season, it was when the communication between players broke down. "Usually we do a lot of talking," he said. "But our problems this year with mixups have come because of a lack of communication. But we can't afford that now. In order to have the good team work we pride ourselves on, we have to have good communication."

How to prepare for Granite South? "It's hard to go to it like it's just another game," said Martin. "First of all, we've never been there before. And playing Granite City makes it even bigger for us."

"We're going to establish respect right off the bat," he said. "If they (South) control the game early, we're in trouble. We have to go out early, be aggressive, not give up on the ball, and let them know we're not backing down. We can't give them the opportunity to control the game."

"We'd like to score first. That puts the other team in a hole. But in the final, the skill level is pretty equal. We have to play hard 80 minutes. It really doesn't matter who scores when, the other teams have the ability to come back on them."

While Christian may not have one player who dominates, South does. All-American and All-Stater David Fernandez. The senior does everything for South, from playing striker, to midfielder to sweeper back, he's done just about everything for the Warriors this season. "I saw him up here last year," said Martin. "He's the kind of guy — just his being on the field does a lot. He does so many things."

"But you have to be careful not to concentrate on him too much. We must be aware of his teammates. They wouldn't have gotten as far as they have with just him."

South sets out for State

By PETE HAYES

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It's getting to be just like a regular family vacation. About this time each year, hundreds of soccer fans from Granite City pile into their cars and journey northward. It's getting so they can plan their November activities around the trip up north to the State Soccer Tournament. For the past eight years, Granite Cityans have been going to the Finals. And when the Granite City South soccer Warriors piled into their charter bus this morning at 8:30 bound for Palatine, it made the ninth. A cheering crowd, complete with booming drum corps, sent the Warriors off to the Finals at Palatine Fremd High School this morning at 8:30. After a brief stop in Bloomington where they'll practice on the Astro-Turf at Hancock Stadium at Illinois State University, the Warriors will arrive in Chicago later today and wait.

They'll wait until noon Friday when they'll take on Friday (enrollment) Wheaton Christian in the first of four quarterfinal games to be played. If they win that one, they'll have to wait again. Until 9 a.m. Saturday when they'll play the winner of the Chicago Bowen-Gordon Tech quarterfinal game.

If they win that one, they'll have to wait until 7 o'clock Saturday night for the championship game. If they win that one, they'll be the Illinois state champions — for the fifth straight season.

South head coach Gene Baker has been working his team out this week just as it was the beginning of the season. In a sense, it is the beginning of the "season" of the "season." But it's a season Granite South has gotten used to over the years. Baker isn't taking it too lightly, his team's meeting with Wheaton Christian Friday. "They've got to be on their toes," he said. "You don't make it this far without doing something right. The size thing with the school enrollment doesn't really matter that much. Hinckley-Big Rock (another quarterfinalist) is about the same size (enrollment 300) and they gave us two tough games last season."

The general attitude around the South campus is that their team will be able to pull it off again. "South's gonna do it again," proclaim signs dotting the school and on the marquee outside the main building at South. South Lettermen's Club and Red Peppers Club are selling t-shirts saying, "Granite South's Gonna Do It Again."

It's that time of the year again. Soccer Tournament fever has hit Granite City, just like clockwork. As far as the attitude of the team is concerned, Baker is pleased. "They're staying pretty business-like about it," he said. "They know what they have to do. We've got a lot of players who have state tournament experience under the belts — two or three years of it. When most teams talk about how many players they have coming back from last year's team, we talk about how many we have coming back with State Finals experience. That makes a difference."

One player who has three years of that experience under his belt is All-American David Fernandez. Better make that two. Even though he played most of his sophomore season, he broke an arm in sub-sectional action and was out for the rest of the playoffs. Fer-

ON THEIR WAY. Granite City South's soccer squad celebrates its victory last week over Quincy in the Sectional championship game here. The Warriors (23-2-1) left this morning for Chicago, where they'll face Wheaton Christian Friday in the first quarterfinal game of the State Finals at Palatine Fremd.

Most State Tourney records are South's

GRANITE CITY — To say the State Soccer Tournament belongs to Granite City South could be an understatement. The Warriors, who will try for their fifth straight state championship this weekend in Palatine, have a virtual stranglehold on the State Tournament record book.

Of course, the name seen most often in the State Tournament records is South State Soccer Coaches Association All-State team. Palatine has an enrollment of 2,587.

Glenbrook North has come a long way this season. The first part of the campaign, the Spartans had to get acclimated to the system of first-year coach Dr. Michael Radakovich. The second part, they put the system to work. The third part is still underway.

Glenbrook North is making its first appearance in the Finals. Its enrollment is 2,527.

GENE BAKER, Granite South coach, holds every coaching record in the State Soccer Finals.

North spikers fall to Edwardsville in two

By TOM SCHOCKER of the Press Record
GRANITE CITY — When the Granite City North girls volleyball team started its season, Head Coach Sharon Bloodworth said the year was going to be one of rebuilding. Fourteen games later, the Steelers have improved in leaps and bounds. It still hasn't gained them a victory, though.

The Edwardsville Tigers were the latest victims to spoil North's attempts in notching that first victory. Even looking like a much improved squad, the Steelers couldn't find the winning edge dropping the match 15-9 and 15-4. A dual that turned out to be closer than the scores might indicate.

As Bloodworth was giving her post-game comments, one of the other North coaches walking by said the team looked a lot better tonight. "You see what I told you," said Bloodworth, referring to the coaches' statement. "When I said this was a rebuilding year, it was just that. The girls are improving. Their progression has been really good."

A lack of experience on behalf of the North, as Bloodworth would characterize it, might have been taken too lightly by Edwardsville. A good example was game two. Storming to a 6-0 lead, the Tigers forced North into a time-out. Tammy Evans set up to serve after the discussion on the bench and promptly put the Steelers right back in the contest with five unanswered points.

"We weren't fundamentally thinking tonight," said Edwardsville head coach Kay Hyter. "When you have a team down, you keep them down." The charge by the Steelers was only short-lived. North lost its serve and when the Tiger's Tami Vallow was finished with her deliveries, the game was out of reach. A couple of spikes and a drop shot increased the Edwardsville advantage by five. It was just too much for the young Steeler squad. North's energy was exhausted as they tallied just one more point in the game. "You have to look at the level of experience on our team," said Bloodworth. "All of them are first year players, except for Adrienne (Pumphrey)."

The only senior starter and the only senior on the team, Pumphrey was the mainstay player in the opening game. In a see-saw affair, Pumphrey got the Steelers rolling. Two, well placed spikes, helped North enjoy its biggest lead in either game at 3-0.

But Pumphrey couldn't do it all. Edwardsville chipped away at the difference until it caught North and pushed ahead 5-4. It was the last time the Steelers were to be ahead. North did tie the game twice after that, but a five point surge by the Tigers killed the Steeler effort.

"I have a lot of trouble getting these girls charged up for games," said Hyter. "Especially when they think they can win. We played much better over the weekend when we lost three in a row, than we did tonight. I'm not taking anything away from North. Although they are better than the first time we met, we should have held them to less points."

Again it was Pumphrey that tried to institute a comeback. Blocking a spike attempt from Edwardsville and dinking a point, Pumphrey drew North within four. The Tigers already had 13 and the game.

Local Bowls '300'

GRANITE CITY — Jim Davis, of 2020 Amos Granite City, recently did what few bowlers ever do — bowl a perfect '300' game. The feat came at Tri-Mor Bowl II in Granite City. That in itself is noteworthy. But there's more.

Davis, who is near-sighted broke his eye glasses the day he bowled the '300,' and didn't have time to get them fixed. Under a severe vision handicap, he still accomplished what few bowlers ever do.

Davis will receive a special ring for his accomplishment.

Former GC kickers at Wash. U.

ST. LOUIS — Phil Beljanski and Glenn Edwards, both of Granite City are now playing soccer at Washington University in St. Louis. Beljanski has scored four goals and had one assist and Edwards has scored in 14 games.

NEW USE FOR OLD. The bell that for years called Granite City school children to class at Washington Grade School has been put to a new use. Through the efforts of many former Washington School parents and students, it is now known as the "Spirit Bell" and is awarded to the Granite City high school that wins the most varsity intra-city games in each school year.

New use for old school bell

GRANITE CITY — Old school bells never die, they just find a new job.

Because of the efforts of a group of Granite Cityans, the old school bell that used to ring out daily from the tower at Washington Grade School is now being put to a new use, after years of inactivity.

The bell has been completely restored and now sits on an attractive pedestal at Granite City High School South. It's no longer just the Washington School Bell, it's the "Spirit Bell." The idea was conceived in 1973 by Granite City South Assistant Principal Ken Spalding. In a memo to District 9 Superintendent B.J. Davis, he called for some sort of restoration of the bell to be used at South football games. "I got the idea from East St. Louis High," said Spalding. "They have a bell on a rubber-tired cart that they ring at their football games. I thought something along that line would be good for us."

Thus began the "Spirit Bell" project. But it took a while for the project to get off the ground. Finally, after much hard work, the bell was dedicated Nov. 4 at the regular meeting of the District 9 School Board. After Spalding's original memo to Davis, parents of students, former students and teachers began rallying around the project. Money was collected to help pay for part of the restoration and for a bronze plaque that adorns one side of the bell. The bell will be given to the Granite City High School that wins the most regular season varsity North vs. South High games. According to Spalding, only the first meeting between the two schools in each sport will count toward the bell. At the end of each school year, the school with the most points with each school's emblem are now being made. Based on last year's performance, South now has possession of the trophy. A list of people contributing to the project follows:

Washington School parents: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baxter; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Clow; Mrs. Lottie Clow; Mr. and Mrs. J. Corbett; Mr. and Mrs. Ric Ferris; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Lester; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Noel; Mr. and Mrs. John Passig; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sampson; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sanders; Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Techenor; Mr. and Mrs. John Teacher; Mr. and Mrs. Russ Waterson; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yaradani.

Others helping on the project were: Paul McCord and his vocational welding students for cart and frame, Jerry Ethridge and vocational drafting students who drew blueprints, student councils of both high schools, Ralph Barker the South Student Council advisor, coordinated the project, David King and Joe Kutsky and their vocational machine shop students, Allen Spencer and wood shop students made the oak base for the stand, home economics students will make the skirts for the bell stand.

Is Wilson best in the nation?

CHAMPAIGN — Dave Wilson's versatility is beginning to show. A third place finisher in last week's general election for circuit court clerk, he received one write-in vote for Champaign County Clerk of the Court, he's not finishing behind anyone in the race for the title of greatest passer in college football. At least for one game, that is.

Wilson, the University of Illinois' quarterback, made a name for himself in the eyes of college football fans by virtually rewriting the record books of the NCAA, Big Ten and U. of I.

Last week at Ohio State Wilson was able to do what no other quarterback in the history of college football has been able to do: throw for 600 yards. He tied the all-time record of 69 attempts and 43 completions in tossing 821 yards in the Illini's 49-42 loss to the Buckeyes.

"I relaxed and had a good time out there," Wilson said following his monumental performance. "I think back to the Michigan game and, with it being televised in my home (Anaheim, Calif.), I was probably pressing. Last week against Minnesota, my mother and girl friend came to see the game and I tensed up again. I was a lot more relaxed against Ohio State and just did what the coaches told me."

Wilson's barrage on the record books is almost astonishing. He holds all the school's single game and season passing and total offense records, and believe it or not, already holds the Illinois career passing mark. He's thrown for 2,751 yards in 10 games which is more than any other Illini has been able to do in three or even four seasons. He also holds all the Big Ten's single game marks and is a sure bet to break the season marks in next week's finale at Indiana.

Wilson was a mildly recruited player from Katella High School in Anaheim who wound up playing junior college ball at Fullerton (Calif.) College before coming to Illinois last winter along with new head coach Mike White.

"This system is the best for me," Wilson said. "It's the best for the future." Wilson is also the best for the system. "Dave has been just phenomenal," White said. "It amazes me that he's been able to play with everything that's surrounded him. Most good passers have spent a long time working with their receivers, but that's not the case with Dave. He was held out of most of spring practice (with a leg injury) and wasn't in the state during the summer. He really hasn't had all that much time working with his receivers."

White has tutored a virtual listing of "Who's Who of NFL Quarterbacks." His former players have included Craig Fullerton (Calif.) College before coming to Illinois last winter along with new head coach Mike White.

"Dave ranks favorably with some of the best I've had," White continued. "He's probably the best I've ever had at reading the defense. He gets the team out of the huddle in a hurry and is usually correct at figuring out what the team is going to do against him. He's consistently been able to get our receivers involved in single coverage, which is ultimately what you want all afternoon."

Elks' Hoop Shoot is set

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Elks Lodge has announced its seventh annual "Hoop Shoot" contest. The competition, in which over 2.5 million youngsters enter nation-wide, is divided into age categories 8-9 years, 10-11 and 12-13. The boys and girls making the most free throws out of 25 attempts on the local level will advance to compete against more youngsters on the District, State, Regional and National levels. Winners of Regional titles will compete in the National Finals at Market Square

Arena in Indianapolis, home of the Indiana Pacers of the NBA and site of last year's NCAA National Finals. Three local winners advanced to the State Meet last year in Springfield. They were: Diane Mercer, Harry Briggs III and Kathy Juhasz.

The local contest will be held at Grigsby Junior High School, Saturday, Dec. 20. The chairman of the Granite City contest is Dick Yates, who urges that boys and girls interested in taking part to start practicing. More details will be announced later.

Coping with modern society

(This is the eighth in a series of 15 articles exploring "American Families in Transition.")

Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.

By MARVIN B. SUSSMAN
Despite dire warnings from some quarters that the family is in trouble, the family as a form of human organization survives.

It not only survives but does well by its members. It cares for its own and provides its young with skills and values they need to function in the world, to form relationships, and to deal with society and its organizations.

To provide for its members—both young and old—in today's society, the family must obtain goods and services from other institutions like schools, corporations, government agencies, hospitals.

It must deal with bureaucracies that control the resources needed by family members, to survive and thrive. But families have neither relinquished all their major roles to bureaucracies, as some critics have argued, nor are they helpless—as individual units or in organized groups—in dealing with such large bureaucratic organizations. Families today, as in yesteryear, are the primary care system for their members, from the newborn to the elderly.

Although organizations and institutions provide specialized services such as health care, relatively few persons grow up or live out their lives in institutions. Even among those over the age of 65, only about five percent are in long-term care facilities such as nursing homes or homes for the aged.

This is striking evidence that families are the best-suited structures to provide growing human beings the nurturance, love, emotional support, caring, solidarity and instruction required for survival and for a reasonably satisfying life.

FORMAL BUREAUCRACIES. Inevitably in our complex society, a large part of the instruction that families provide must be in dealing with bureaucracies that are more powerful than themselves. This is a difficult task. For one thing, large-scale organizations like government and business often ignore or deny the existence of families.

They deal only with individuals, because it is the individual worker, patient, consumer or citizen whom the institution wishes to control and fit into its operation.

Looking at the individual as a member of a family complicates the work of the institution, adding complexity to decisions, requiring exceptions to the rules, and disrupting orderly functioning of the organization.

When company officials order a manager to move to another part of the country, they assume that the manager will see that his or her family moves. The family's reaction has not traditionally been the company's concern.

On their surface, bureaucracies are impersonal and rational. They are governed by rules, and are thus presumably fair and immune to personal influence.

They are, ideally, systems designed to permit easy social exchange among strangers in a world that is too large and complex for exchange to be governed solely by kinship, friendship, and other informal, personal relationships.

But the words "bureaucracy" and "bureaucratic" have come to connote an inefficient, rule-bound maze-like system that obstructs rather than facilitates obtaining services.

INFORMAL TIES. To negotiate bureaucratic institutions to get what their members need (and have a right to), families learn to use informal and personal resources for leverage on the institution.

Every formal bureaucratic institution has informal ties to the community through the kinship and friendship circles of the people who staff the organization.

For example, a mother who wishes to see that her child gets fair treatment at school may visit the child's teacher, volunteer for field-trips or tutoring, or work with the parent-teacher organization.

These gestures are not intended to bring undue influence, but they insure that the child will be visible to the teacher, as a person rather than an anonymous face in a classroom group.

The point is, the family uses the people within the bureaucracy to get what it needs for its members to live good lives.

And it teaches its young how to go about using such personal resources to grease the machinery in what can otherwise be the frustrating, rule-bound obstacles of bureaucratic encounters.

Let's look at hypothetical case. A sixteen-year-old young man—call him Jack—tries to get a job and is told that he needs a driver's license and a Social Security card.

He goes to the Social Security office, fills out the forms, and waits what seems a very long time. Finally, he is told that he needs a birth certificate to get his card and number.

By this time, business hours are ending and Jack goes home. He tells his mother about his frustrations. He doesn't know where to get either his birth certificate or a driver's license.

But his mother's cousin has a friend in the city clerk's office who can give him the information and his direction he needs. She phones the cousin, who tells Jack to come to her office the next day and she will introduce him to her friend.

This case—note that at all untypical—demonstrates how families can use the informal system to get things done.

Not only will Jack be able to get what he needs, but he will be learning important lessons about society and bureaucracy.

He will learn that when he is frustrated in his dealings with formal organizations, he may be able to work that system through "connections."

There is nothing objectionable or demeaning in such action, since the bureaucracy wants to serve its clientele but is often unable to do so efficiently because of regulations and works of unenthusiastic workers.

Some families have greater skill and resources in using this informal system of connections than others.

The well-educated and wealthy are more likely to know people in power positions, and they know how to enter and make themselves visible in bureaucratic systems. When their children need jobs, these families know where to send them.

COLLECTIVE ACTION. Sometimes, families band together with other families to exert pressure on bureaucracies.

One such example is the creation of FLAG, an organization whose members are the families of hostages held in Iran.

Despairing over lack of information and communication from the State Department and about the reunion plans for the time of the hostages' release, they organized to confront the bureaucracy.

FLAG not only deals with the State Department, but also handles the media and the public, protects families from crackpots and, most important, provides a support group—a kind of extended family that gives warmth, love and understanding to all member families.

Currently, the State Department is providing support, offering its own communication facilities to FLAG to use for its own purposes. Officials are also listening.

One wife of a hostage expressed the feelings of many FLAG members. Appalled at the reunion plans she said (and I paraphrase): "We were to be down over to some place in Europe and, after some debriefing, were to be reunited with our husbands."

"They were going to put us up in some hotel or motel like a Hilton or Holiday Inn. And there it was."

"It will be over a year (now longer) since I was with my husband; we have been living different lives and are different people."

"I don't know what he is like and I have been changed by this experience. We need time, the kids and I, we need to find out what he wants."

"We need a place where there is space to be together, or alone. We need time."

Such communications are bound to have an effect on traditional procedures of State Department officials. The bureaucracy is responding, and its changes indicate that, collectively, families can have power and that bureaucracies can be changed.

Families and bureaucracies need one another. They have different functions to perform, but they must tolerate and complement each other. Families have developed techniques and skills to handle the demands of bureaucracies.

When internal resources are not sufficient to do this, families will increasingly band together and engage in collective action.

Small business conference scheduled Nov. 18 and 19

A small business conference sponsored by the Illinois General Assembly is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18 and 19, in Springfield.

The two-day conference will be held at the Springfield Hilton. Persons wishing to participate can preregister until Monday, Nov. 17. The conference fee is $15. For those who register at the door, the fee will be $20.

Mandated by a resolution passed during the legislative spring session, the conference will provide a forum for small business owners to voice their needs and concerns related to doing business in Illinois.

For more information or to preregister, interested persons may contact Pam Reich, Illinois Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation, at 217-783-6024 in Springfield or Peter Censky, Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) at 312-793-6885 in Chicago.

A luncheon with legislative leaders will kick off the conference. The luncheon will be followed by workshops dealing with important issues faced by business people in Illinois such as regulations, taxation, unemployment, insurance, workers' compensation, and productivity.

John Casale, director of DCCA, said the conference follows a series of six small business public hearings sponsored by DCCA throughout the state during the summer.

"More than 130 small business owners testified in those hearings," Casale said, "and their more than 40 hours of testimony will help identify what issues need to be discussed further in this Springfield legislative conference."

Castle said the conference will allow people to further define problems cited in the DCCA hearings, as well as give them the chance to suggest solutions. Conference recommendations will be presented to the legislature for consideration during the 1981 session.

Free class on framing

The Granite City Park District is offering a free session on "Framing" on Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Nameeki Recreation Center, Victoria Metz of "Victoria's Frames" will explain and demonstrate methods of cutting and assembling frames for pictures, wall hangings and needlework.

She will have on display many colors and varieties of mats for pictures, in addition to all types of wood and metal material for frames. After the demonstration, the class will be open for questions. This session will also include hints on arranging pictures on walls. Those attending may bring an item they would like advice about.

A spokesman commented this week, "The Park District has offered a series of adult craft classes this fall in which many projects have been needed to be framed. Therefore, it is appropriate to offer such a class at this time."

"The last of the craft classes for this season will be offered on Wednesday, Dec. 3, at which time 'Yo-yo' fabric Christmas tree ornaments will be made. Registration for the above classes must be made in person at the Wilson Park office."

Bell aids handicapped

By LT. GOV. DAVE O'NEAL—In an effort to help people with hearing and speaking difficulties use the telephone, the Bell System is providing a 24-hour operator service for people who communicate over phone lines via special telecommunications devices (TDDs).

Q. How can I use this new operator service?
A. By dialing a toll-free number, TDD users can phone any where in the continental United States and reach a special operator who will assist with person-to-person, collect, credit card and third-party calls. The number is 800-555-1155.

Q. How does this operator service work?
A. A TDD is a typewriter-like keyboard unit which is attached to the phone. Responses come either on a visual display terminal or on a printout. When the TDD caller reaches the special operator, he or she types the message to the operator, who has a similar device. Although the expanded operator service is provided by the Bell System, it also is available to callers dialing from non-Bell telephone company territories.

Q. Can a TDD user receive directory assistance?

Army exceeds recruiting goals in area

The U.S. Army St. Louis District Recruiting Command exceeded its active Army and Army Reserve enlistment goals substantially in the 1980 fiscal year, which ended Sept. 30, according to district commander Lieutenant Colonel Joseph M. Lukitsch. The U.S. Army St. Louis District Recruiting Command is responsible for active Army and Army Reserve recruiting in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

"We enlisted 4,407 individuals into the active Army this year," says Lt. Col. Lukitsch, "including 530 women. This represents a 26 percent increase overall and a 25 percent increase in women over figures for 1979. We also enlisted 1,495 men and women into the Army Reserve—an increase of 17 percent over last year."

The figures represent a 110.6 percent attainment of active Army goals and a 134.7 percent attainment of Reserve enlistments for the fiscal year. Nationally, the U.S. Army completed the fiscal year at 101.7 percent.

'Be prepared'—Veizer

Fearing that last winter's unusually mild weather in many areas may have lulled Granite City's motorists into a false sense of security about what can be ahead this year, Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer issued early season warnings to unprepared motorists who could become hopelessly stuck or skid into accidents.

According to the chief and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, it's every driver's responsibility to be aware of the type of driving conditions he will encounter throughout the winter and to equip his car to protect his passengers and other drivers, as well as himself.

He referred to tests conducted for many years by the National Safety Council's Committee on winter driving hazards which have shown that the tires or traction aids used on your car are of vital importance under winter's snow and ice conditions, for instance.

For getting started and for keeping moving — tests show that conventional snow tires provide only a small improvement on ice (28 percent) over standard highway tread tires. Studded tires (where permitted) develop about three times the get-up-and-go. Reinforced tire chains provide about seven times the pull of regular tires on ice, Veizer said.

On loosely packed snow, however, conventional snow tires provide half-again as much pull as regular tires. Reinforced tire chains produce more than four times the pull of regular tires.

For Stopping — conventional snow tires were found to offer no advantage over highway tread tires on ice. Studded snow tires (where permitted) produce a 19 percent improvement; reinforced tire chains a 50 percent improvement on ice as compared with regular tires.

On loosely packed snow, snow tires offer a 13 percent improvement over regular tires; reinforced tire chains are 37 percent better than highway tread alone.

According to Chief Veizer, National Safety Council researchers have recently studied what happens when traction aids are used on front drive cars, compared to their use on rear drive vehicles.

Based on preliminary tests, the committee found that when either studded tires or tire chains are used on the front wheels of front drive vehicles, improvements in stopping performance are generally similar in degree to those achieved when the same traction aids are used on the rear wheels of rear drive vehicles.

While some traction aids do provide substantial help on snow and ice, Veizer was quick to point out that the resulting traction is nowhere near that of regular highway tires on either wet or dry pavement.

Chief Veizer concluded with this admonition: "Slow down, think out every maneuver well in advance. Steer, accelerate and stop gently."

NEW PASTIME. For one hour, between 3 and 4 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday, most of the patients' televisions at St. Elizabeth Medical Center are tuned to Channel 13 for the live show, TV Bingo. The show is produced by the Public Relations Department under the direction of video production engineer Bob Gill. SEMC's Auxiliary sponsors the show, supplies the volunteers and presents the prizes to the winners.

The mechanics of the show are simple. When admitted to the medical center, patients find a bingo card in their bedside table. During the show, from 10 to 12 games are played. When a patient has bingo, he is instructed to call the number given on the screen. The name and room number is taken and a prize is delivered to the room after the show. Vernon Brown, a patient, is shown with Head Nurse Bobbi Jones.

East-West Forum to meet

The regular monthly meeting of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council's Regional Forum will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 19, at the Council office, Suite 1200, 112 N. 4th St., St. Louis.

During this meeting, the Regional Forum will review: an Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) application to assist in the completion of the Gateway Mall project in the City of St. Louis; an Urban Mass Transportation Administration 16 b Capital Assistance Grant application for the St. Louis State School and Hospital; and an application by the Illinois Department of Transportation for a preliminary engineering study on the replacement of the Clark Bridge over the Mississippi River at Alton.

In addition, an overview of hazardous waste regulations will be presented to the Forum as an informational item.

Individuals wishing to address a particular item on the agenda at the meeting should contact the Gateway office 24 hours prior to the meeting.

The Regional Forum is the Council's primary citizens advisory body which provides public input on plans and studies that will affect the economic and physical development of the greater St. Louis and Illinois metropolitan areas.

The Gateway Council is the regional planning agency for a two-state, 8-county area and regularly undertakes major plans and studies in highway development, mass transit, water and air quality and housing. The council also reviews requests for grants assistance to coordinate local planning efforts with areawide goals.

The meeting is open and the public is invited to attend.

The six important questions to ask before listing your house.

When you're ready to sell, you want to make sure you list with someone who has all the tools to help you best sell your house. The most important thing is this: Don't just list with anybody.

To compare, ask these six questions:

1. Do you have a referral network so you can send the potential buyers from all across the country?
2. Do you have a display of photos in your office so people can preview my house?
3. Are all your salespeople professionally trained?
4. Do you advertise extensively in newspapers and on the radio?
5. Will you put into writing exactly what you will do for me or else I can cancel the listing?
6. Do you spend over $20,000,000 to advertise on television so effectively that more than 9 out of 10 potential buyers recognize your sign in front of my house?

There is only one real estate sales organization that can answer yes to all these questions.

Rodney C. Hanner, 19, of 2507 W. 24th St., was charged with unlawful delivery of cannabis and unlawful possession of cannabis, following a weekend incident occurring at West 24th Street and Illinois Avenue.

Arrested in the same case was James C. Parrott, 17, of 2436 Ohio Ave., who was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis.

A police officer alleged seeing two men exchange money and something else while on patrol at 11:15 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 8.

It was alleged Parrott placed two handrolled cigarettes on a stone wall and sat on them and Hanner, who was seated next to Parrott, had money in his hand.

A pack of 16 handrolled cigarettes allegedly was found next to Hanner on the wall when the two were taken into custody.

A girl, who was with Parrott, was released without charges.

In an appearance before a judge at 1:40 p.m. Monday, Hanner pleaded guilty and was ordered to pay a $450 fine by Dec. 19. Parrott, also pleaded guilty, and was fined $175 to be paid by Dec. 19. Both men were released.

Pollution board nearing decision on containers

By JEFF BRODY
SPRINGFIELD — After nine years of study, the Illinois Pollution Control Board appears to be nearing a decision on a proposal to require a deposit on beverage containers.

Two proposals are being considered. One would require a 5-cent deposit on all beverage containers. The second would require a deposit and also prohibit the use of pull-tab openers and bi-metal cans.

Both are aimed at three major goals: to encourage recycling in place of "throw-away" containers, to reduce the amount of litter generated, and to reduce the demand for landfill space.

Consumers now pay less for beverages that come in returnable containers, but industry officials who oppose the regulations say they will raise if they are returnable.

The act gives the board some control. It's an expression of intent as much as approval of a bill would be.

Bloom's opinion would hold some sway, since his committee will determine whether the board followed proper procedures, avoided arbitrary or capricious rules and had the statutory power to issue the regulations if some are approved.

"This comes down to why you have administrative agencies," says James Yoho, attorney for environmentalists proposing the regulations.

"They act on specific subject areas the Legislature doesn't have the time or expertise to deal with."

"The Legislature delegated this authority to the Pollution Control Board. Any action by the board may be out of step with what the Legislature is thinking, but that doesn't change the legislative intent."

David Currie, former chairman of the board and an attorney, issued a legal opinion in 1972, backing the board's authority. That remains the basis of the board's position today.

The opinion calls the establishment of a solid waste task force a "compromise" to act, that's a flip side of the board's position today.

Before the Environmental Protection Act was passed, a section giving the board authority to issue such regulations was deleted because the Legislature did not want the board to have that authority," says C. Lee Cook, an attorney representing three trade associations that oppose the regulations.

"Former members of the Legislature have testified it was never their intention to give the board that power."

"Another thing that confirms this is that, in subsequent sessions, attempts to reinstate that section of the law have been defeated."

Rep. Dan Pierce, D-Highland Park, has sponsored efforts to enact a deposit requirement and plans to reintroduce the measure in 1981.

Pierce, a lawyer, disagrees that legislative inaction constitutes legislative intent. "I don't see that defeat of a bill establishes state policy. The authority comes from the enabling statute and the court decisions based on it."

But Bloom, also an attorney, backs Cook's contention. "If the Legislature acts, that's an obvious sign of legislative intent. But, if the General Assembly refuses to act, that's a flip side of the 'bottle bill' itself is the fact that the Legislature has four times rejected proposals similar to the ones being considered by the board."

"This really gets to the nub of the question of regulatory review and legislative oversight," said Sen. Prescott Bloom, R-Peoria, who is chairman of the legislative joint Committee on Administrative Rules.

Whether the board has the authority to issue such regulations, despite the fact that the Legislature has refused to make such requirements state policy, is a matter likely to end up in court if the board takes that initiative.

"We make a decision on the jurisdictional question before we take in a regulation for review," said board member Irvin Goodman. "We feel right now that we have the authority. I could make the argument that the Legislature hasn't passed the bill because they're waiting for us to act on this regulation."

In this case, there are two relevant actions that can be the basis for determining legislative intent.

First is the Environmental Protection Act, which established the Pollution Control Board. The second is the series of debates and votes that del - ped specific authority to deal with container deposits from the original act and killed four bottle bills in the last four sessions of the Legislature.

The act gives the board some control. It's an expression of intent as much as approval of a bill would be.

Bloom's opinion would hold some sway, since his committee will determine whether the board followed proper procedures, avoided arbitrary or capricious rules and had the statutory power to issue the regulations if some are approved.

"This comes down to why you have administrative agencies," says James Yoho, attorney for environmentalists proposing the regulations.

"They act on specific subject areas the Legislature doesn't have the time or expertise to deal with."

"The Legislature delegated this authority to the Pollution Control Board. Any action by the board may be out of step with what the Legislature is thinking, but that doesn't change the legislative intent."

David Currie, former chairman of the board and an attorney, issued a legal opinion in 1972, backing the board's authority. That remains the basis of the board's position today.

The opinion calls the establishment of a solid waste task force a "compromise" to act, that's a flip side of the board's position today.

Before the Environmental Protection Act was passed, a section giving the board authority to issue such regulations was deleted because the Legislature did not want the board to have that authority," says C. Lee Cook, an attorney representing three trade associations that oppose the regulations.

"Former members of the Legislature have testified it was never their intention to give the board that power."

"Another thing that confirms this is that, in subsequent sessions, attempts to reinstate that section of the law have been defeated."

Rep. Dan Pierce, D-Highland Park, has sponsored efforts to enact a deposit requirement and plans to reintroduce the measure in 1981.

Pierce, a lawyer, disagrees that legislative inaction constitutes legislative intent. "I don't see that defeat of a bill establishes state policy. The authority comes from the enabling statute and the court decisions based on it."

But Bloom, also an attorney, backs Cook's contention. "If the Legislature acts, that's an obvious sign of legislative intent. But, if the General Assembly refuses to act, that's a flip side of the 'bottle bill' itself is the fact that the Legislature has four times rejected proposals similar to the ones being considered by the board."

"This really gets to the nub of the question of regulatory review and legislative oversight," said Sen. Prescott Bloom, R-Peoria, who is chairman of the legislative joint Committee on Administrative Rules.

Whether the board has the authority to issue such regulations, despite the fact that the Legislature has refused to make such requirements state policy, is a matter likely to end up in court if the board takes that initiative.

Asthma, sulfur dioxide—bad combination

(Illinois Lung Association)
The amount of sulfur dioxide emissions from power plants has quadrupled in the last 25 years. And new studies show that even low concentrations of the pollutant can trigger asthmatic episodes in susceptible people.

Researchers at the University of California at San Francisco exposed people with mild asthma to levels of sulfur dioxide that meet federal standards set for industry.

More than 70 percent of the asthmatic subjects suffered severe symptom within minutes. Healthy subjects as well as people with mild asthma also showed changes in lung function tests.

When the level of the pollutant was lowered drastically—to one-fifth the concentration considered acceptable by federal standards—people with mild asthma still experienced significant narrowing of the airways and resulting breathlessness that required immediate treatment.

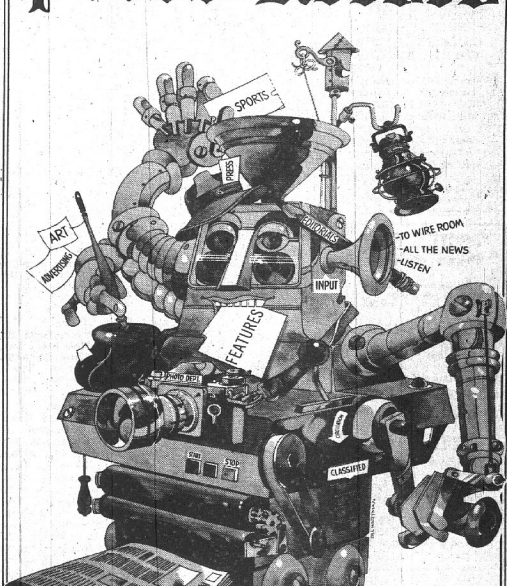

The study shows that present standards do not protect asthmatics at work, and allowable levels may have an adverse effect on healthy workers.

Estimates are that nine million Americans have asthma; two million of these are children and young people under 17.

During asthmatic episodes, the small airways of the lungs constrict and much less oxygen can be inhaled.

Although medication can alleviate and help prevent episodes in many asthmatics, exposure to air pollutants aggravates respiratory conditions and can interfere with lung function in healthy people.

1,668 persons killed on highways thus far

The Illinois State Police daily traffic accident fatality summary shows that there were 1,668 people killed on Illinois highways as of November 2, 1980. Of these, 924 occurred on Rural Highways. During the month of October, 1980, there were 158 traffic fatalities. While total fatalities show an increase of 18, rural fatalities were 10 less than last year during the same period.

District Eleven has a total of 113 traffic fatalities, 13 of which occurred during the month of October.

Captain Glenn H. Huffman, Commander, District Eleven, is utilizing two special programs in conjunction with normal district programs, in an effort to maintain compliance to the 55 MPH speed limit, and to further reduce injuries and fatalities.

These two programs, Concentrated Traffic Enforcement Program (CTEP), and the Concentrated Speed Enforcement Program (CSEP), are both Federally-funded programs which utilize off duty troopers. "By implementing these programs we are able to increase our available manhours without increasing our manpower," he said.

New prison really a campus

By DOUG FINKE

HILLSBORO — Built on 117 acres south of Hillsboro, the John A. Graham Correctional Center is one of two medium-security prisons being built in Central Illinois.

It was named after the late state senator, a Republican from Barrington who spent 14 years as chairman of the state Senate committee that oversees corrections operations and helped select the prison site. Graham, a Montgomery County native, died in December 1979, a few days after the prison was named for him.

The institution eventually will house 750 medium-security residents who have fewer than five years to serve and who have adjusted to prison life.

The Department of Corrections prefers to refer to its clients as "residents" to avoid the stigma of "inmate" or "prisoner." The accommodations are referred to as "institutions" or "facilities" or, in the case of Hillsboro, "campuses," also to avoid the stigma of "prisons."

Whatever it's being called, the Graham Center has won accolades for its design, which emphasizes normal-as-possible environment. Each resident has his own room with a window, desk, chair and lavatory. Each resident center houses 50 men and has ray-rooms and laundry facilities.

In addition to the 15 resident centers, the prison has 12 other support buildings, including a warehouse and medical, administrative, kitchen, academic, chapel and industrial facilities. There is also a segregation area for inmates who need to be disciplined.

Outdoor recreation facilities also are provided.

A double 12-foot fence circles the prison, along with guard towers that are manned 24 hours a day. Only guards stationed in the towers will carry arms.

Inside the resident buildings, security is maintained in each wing by a central control-surveillance room.

More than $26 million was budgeted for construction, with $24 million in contracts already let. Warden Ken McGinnis said the prison is about 80 percent completed.

The state paid $2,937 an acre for the Hillsboro site, which was the former county poor farm. Oil and mineral rights were included in the sale by the Montgomery County Board in February, 1978.

Last June, the Lincoln Land Community College Board of Trustees gave formal approval to the establishment of a vocational training program at the Hillsboro center. Tentative plans for the center include courses in auto body, auto engine repair and welding.
